"Situation Is Well In Hand," Says Aussie General After Japs Secure 10-Mi. Front On Singapore Isle

YOUTH HELD FOR STONE ATTACK ON COUNTIAN, 40

James Taylor, 18-year-old farm laborer from near Heidlersburg, is being held in the county jail here on a charge of assault with intent to kill in an attack Saturday morning on a former fellow-worker on the C. B. Spicer dairy farm at Heidlersburg.

The victim of the attack, Norman Rosenberger, 40, also of Gettysburg R. 4, is a patient in the Warner hospital with a fractured skull. He remained in a semi-conscious state over the week-end, but now is expected to recover.

Used Two-Pound Stone

Private John E. Thompson, of the Gettysburg detail of the state motor police, said that Taylor, in a statement given in the office of the district attorney here Saturday evening, admitted he struck Rosenberger a blow on the forehead with a two-pound stone as the climax of several days of ill-feeling between the men, during which time Taylor was discharged by Merrill Newcomb, manager of the dairy farm.

The charge against Taylor, who is formerly from Huntingdon, West Virginia, is filed before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore. A hearing is to be held later in the week, pending developments in Rosenberger's condition, Thompson said.

The police probe by Privates Thompson and R. W. Wagner showed that there was feeling between Taylor and Rosenberger because the latter was placed in charge of the tractors at the farm, while Taylor was made teamster. After Taylor was discharged by Newcomb on Friday, tractor trouble developed and it was discovered after some hours that someone had tampered with wiring on the machine.

Threatened to End Life

The attack on Rosenberger occurred in the dairy barn when the workman was caught "off guard" by Taylor who had been conversing with him for an hour.

After the attack police say Taylor went to the Newcomb house where he secured a shotgun and threatened to take his own life. Later he slashed his right wrist with a razor blade and then started walking along the highway, where police took him into custody a few minutes later.

Both Taylor and Rosenberger were taken to the office of Dr. Raymond Oyer at Biglerville for treatment. Rosenberger was brought to the hospital here, while Taylor went to jail.

COL. WEIKERT TO LEAD AIR COURSE

Lieut. Col. John M. Weikert, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Weikert, McKnightstown, has been assigned as air force officer at the United States Military Academy, West Point, New York, with a place on the academic board.

Under the Army Air Force expansion plan it has been announced the flying instruction would be added next month to the curriculum at the academy. A number of cadets will be graduated as pilots and thus save a year which is now required after West Point graduation for their pilot training.

Colonel Weikert, who was promoted from major last December, has been stationed at West Point for the last five years, teaching subjects in aerodynamics.

After attending Gettysburg college during the term of 1916-19, he was appointed to West Point from where he graduated in 1923. He received his commission as officer in the Air Corps the same year.

During his service with the Army he has been stationed at various parts throughout the country and from 1926 to 1929 was on duty in Hawaii.

CHIMNEY FIRE

Gettysburg firemen were called at 9 o'clock this morning to the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Eric R. Deardorff, Carlisle street, by a chimney blaze. The fire was under control when the firemen arrived.

Governor James Gives Times Stamp Sale A Boost

Instead of buying flowers for their Prom guests, the escorts used the censored money to buy $233.50 worth of defense stamps. The stamps have been donated to the local Red Cross chapter. The profit from the sale will be used by the college group that is planning to correspond with Gettysburg graduates in the United States services. In the picture are, left to right: Dr. Henry W. A. WAR UNIT LISTS PRICES FOR '42 TOMATOES, PEAS

Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—James

E. Walker, chairman of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's state war board, has announced minimum "fair prices" today for tomatoes and peas, to be paid Pennsylvania growers by canners for 1942 crops.

The prices, applicable to tomatoes and peas used for canning, are not ceilings, Walker emphasized. They will be paid by canners who wish to be eligible to sell the canned products to the federal government under its war-time purchasing program.

The prices announced by Walker were:

Tomatoes—No. 1, $22 a ton; No. 2, $14 a ton.
Peas (Alaska) extra standards, $27 a ton; standards, $45 a ton; and sub-standards, $13 a ton. (Sweet) peas, $82 a ton; extra standards, $107 a ton and standards, $20 a ton.

The minimum prices were fixed after conferences with growers and canners in all sections of the state, supplemented by information obtained from official sources within the state associated with inspection, grading and marketing of tomatoes and peas.

Walker said that canners, to become eligible to sell canned tomatoes and peas to the government, must have a state war board certification that they have contracted in writing with growers for purchase of their crops at a figure not below the fixed minimums. The contracts must be submitted to the state war board.

The prices the government will pay for canned tomatoes and peas this year were listed by Walker as follows:

95 cents per dozen No. 2 cans, F.O.B. cannery for U. S. grade "C" canned tomatoes until December 31. $1.10 per dozen No. 2 cans, Alaska or sweets, F.O.B. cannery for U. S. grade "C" canned peas.

Bataan Defenders Repulse New Japanese Offensive

Stroke Of Pen Makes History

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—A $26,495,265,474 appropriation bill, the largest in the history of any nation, and carrying funds for America's growing Navy, was signed today by President Roosevelt. The measure, providing both cash and contract authorizations, contemplates adding approximately 25,000 airplanes to the Navy's sky force and enlarging the fleet for waging war in two oceans at once.

Bataan Peninsula:

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur reported today his troops on Bataan peninsula in the Philippines repulsed new attacks by the Japanese while the Manila bay fortifications silenced several enemy big gun siege batteries on the Cavite shore.

A War department communique said heavy infantry fighting had occurred at several points on the peninsula with hostile dive bombers active overhead, but all attacks were repulsed by the American-Filipino defenders.

In the duel between the Corregidor string of fortifications at the entrance of Manila bay and the hidden Japanese guns which have been bombarding the forts for several days, the forts' guns scored several direct hits on enemy batteries.

The text of the War department's communique—Number 98—of the war—based on reports received here up to 9:30 a. m., War Time, today:

"1. The Philippine theater: 'Some of the concealed enemy batteries which have been firing on our harbor defenses from the Cavite shore have been located and attacked by counter-battery fire from our forts. Several direct hits were observed and some of the enemy batteries were silenced.'

'Heavy infantry fighting occurred intermittently at various points in the Bataan peninsula. The enemy made several attempts at penetration and infiltration. All attacks were repulsed by our troops.'

'Hostile dive bombers were active over our lines.'

'2. There is nothing to report from other areas.'

Yesterday General MacArthur had reported:

'Fighting is increasing in intensity on our left.'

This and today's communique indicated that the new Japanese offensive was developing in the Philippines.

Forts Bombed Synchronized with the renewed heavy pressure on the Bataan front was the systematic bombardment of the American forts which still bar the entrance of Manila bay to Japanese Naval forces.

Enemy land batteries, firing methodically every four minutes, threw big shells for the second successive day.

Singapore:

Singapore, Feb. 9 (AP)—Determined defenders of Singapore rallied for attack to throw a strong invading force of Japanese off their embattled island today after pinning them down to a 10-mile front along the western swamps and beaches.

"The situation is well in hand," declared Major General Henry Gordon Bennett, commander of the Australians, whose sector the Japanese had chosen for a surprise night landing.

"We have taken a stand on a strong line and are organizing an attack which it is hoped will recover as much as possible of the lost terrain."

(Tokyo broadcasts, heard in Oslo, declared Japanese parachutists took part in the battle, and reported that the Japanese Navy was expected to join in the attack at any moment in an all-out assault on the island.)

Under a hail of British artillery fire which swept the shallow waters of Johore strait, the Japanese force was virtually beleaguered, unable to receive reinforcements at least until nightfall.

Aerial Attacks Help Before dark, the Australians hoped to cut the invaders to pieces.

This initial force gained its foothold under cover of a withering artillery and aerial bombardment throughout yesterday and all last night.

The tempo increased violently in the night, and ragged rows of Japanese special landing boats began moving across the shell-churned straits in the light of a rising half moon.

Plunging into the mangrove swamps and rubber trees and darting into tiny inlets which penetrate the shore, the Japanese succeeded in making good a foothold protected by machinegun nests hidden in a tangle of logs and brush.

Then only British shells plunged into the mud flats and beaches, as bayonet swinging Australians and hardy Indians plunged into the thick of a hand-to-hand fight.

A "Suicide" Army Pushed back to this last bit of British soil in Malaya in a two-months war, the defenders were a veritable suicide army, for they had little or no chance of escape in event of defeat.

They had to throw the Japanese out, or accept death. There was no talk of surrender.

The Japanese landing was effected from boats between 11 p. m. last night (11 a. m. EST Sunday) and 1 a. m. today, under cover of an intense artillery barrage, between Sungai Kranji and Pasir Labs, west of the narrow causeway which formerly linked Singapore with the Malayan mainland.

"Our forward troops were pushed back in some places and there has been some enemy infiltration eastwards," the communique acknowledged.

"Offensive action is being taken to mop up the enemy. The results of this action have not been received."

There were no indications of attempted invasion thrusts elsewhere along Johore strait, but the British said that Japanese bombers and fighters had been pounding their defenses everywhere since daybreak.

British hurricane fighters roared aloft to intercept the Japanese planes and were reported officially to have scored their biggest day's bag of the war over the beleaguered island.

In all, the British said, their fighters shot down three enemy planes, "probably" destroyed three others and damaged 13.

WAR TIME RUNS SMOOTHLY; ONLY FEW CLOCKS LAG

The change from solar to War Time, which took place officially at 2 a. m. today, didn't catch Gettysburg school children and factory workers napping, a checkup showed today, in spite of the fact that the court house clock and a few other public timepieces failed to catch up until mid-morning.

Factories here reported only a few workmen were late, while a check of the public schools here failed to show any tardy pupils whose late arrival could be traced to the change in the clock. At the Gettysburg furniture factories employees began work at 7:30 a. m. and will stop at 5:30 o'clock this evening. Previously they began work at 7 a. m. and stopped at 5 o'clock.

At Fairfield high school the clocks were changed, but the pupils continue to go to school "by the sun." School hours have been changed so that instead of taking up school at 8:30 a. m., classes now begin at 9:30 o'clock with a consequent

WAR UNIT LISTS PRICES FOR '42 TOMATOES, PEAS

Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—James E. Walker, chairman of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's state war board, has announced minimum "fair prices" today for tomatoes and peas, to be paid Pennsylvania growers by canners for 1942 crops.

The prices, applicable to tomatoes and peas used for canning, are not ceilings, Walker emphasized. They will be paid by canners who wish to be eligible to sell the canned products to the federal government under its war-time purchasing program.

The prices announced by Walker were:

Tomatoes—No. 1, $22 a ton; No. 2, $14 a ton.
Peas (Alaska) extra standards, $97 a ton; standards, $45 a ton; and sub-standards, $13 a ton. (Sweet) fancy, $82 a ton; extra standards, $63 a ton and standards, $20 a ton.

The minimum prices were fixed after conferences with growers and canners in all sections of the state, supplemented by information obtained from official sources within the state associated with inspection, grading and marketing of tomatoes and peas.

Walker said that canners, to become eligible to sell canned tomatoes and peas to the government, must have a state war board certification that they have contracted in writing with growers for purchase of their crops at a figure not below the fixed minimums. The contracts must be submitted to the state war board.

The prices the government will pay for canned tomatoes and peas this year were listed by Walker as follows:

95 cents per dozen No. 2 cans, F.O.B. cannery for U. S. grade "C" canned tomatoes until December 31.
$1.10 per dozen No. 2 cans, Alaska or sweets, F.O.B. cannery for U. S. grade "C" canned peas.

Bataan Defenders Repulse New Japanese Offensive

Stroke Of Pen Makes History

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—A $26,495,265,474 appropriation bill, the largest in the history of any nation, and carrying funds for America's growing Navy, was signed today by President Roosevelt. The measure, providing both cash and contract authorizations, contemplates adding approximately 25,000 airplanes to the Navy's sky force and enlarging the fleet for waging war in two oceans at once.

Bataan Peninsula:

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP) — General Douglas MacArthur reported today his troops on Bataan peninsula in the Philippines repulsed new attacks by the Japanese while the Manila bay fortifications silenced several enemy big gun siege batteries on the Cavite shore.

A War department communique said heavy infantry fighting had occurred at several points on the peninsula with hostile dive bombers active overhead, but all attacks were repulsed by the American-Filipino defenders.

In the duel between the Corregidor string of fortifications at the entrance of Manila bay and the hidden Japanese guns which have been bombarding the forts for several days, the forts' guns scored several direct hits on enemy batteries.

The text of the War department's communique — Number 98 — of the war — based on reports received here up to 9:30 a. m., War Time, today:

"1. The Philippine theater: "Some of the concealed enemy batteries which have been firing on our harbor defenses from the Cavite shore have been located and attacked by counter-battery fire from our forts. Several direct hits were observed and some of the enemy batteries were silenced.

"Heavy infantry fighting occurred intermittently at various points in the Bataan peninsula. The enemy made several attempts at penetration and infiltration. All attacks were repulsed by our troops.

"Hostile dive bombers were active over our lines.

"2. There is nothing to report from other areas."

Yesterday General MacArthur had reported:

"Fighting is increasing in intensity on our left."

This and today's communique indicated that the new Japanese offensive was developing in the Philippines.

Fortified Battered
Synchronized with the renewed heavy pressure on the Bataan front was the systematic bombardment of the American forts which still bar the entrance of Manila bay to Japanese Naval forces.

Enemy land batteries, firing methodically every four minutes, threw big shells for the second successive

Singapore:

Singapore, Feb. 9 (AP)—Determined defenders of Singapore rallied for attack to throw a strong invading force of Japanese off their embattled island today after pinning them down to a 10-mile front along the western swamps and beaches.

"The situation is well in hand," declared Major General Henry Gordon Bennett, commander of the Australians, whose sector the Japanese had chosen for a surprise night landing.

"We have taken a stand on a strong line and are organizing an attack which it is hoped will recover as much as possible of the lost terrain."

(Tokyo broadcasts, heard in Oslo, declared Japanese parachutists took part in the battle, and reported that the Japanese Navy was expected to join in the attack at any moment in an all-out assault on the island.)

Under a hail of British artillery fire which swept the shallow waters of Johore strait, the Japanese force was virtually beleaguered, unable to receive reinforcements at least until nightfall.

Aerial Attacks Help
Before dark, the Australians hoped to cut the invaders to pieces.

This initial force gained its foothold under cover of a withering artillery and aerial bombardment throughout yesterday and all last night.

The tempo increased violently in the night, and ragged rows of Japanese special landing boats began moving across the shell-churned straits in the light of a rising half moon.

Plunging into the mangrove swamps and rubber trees and darting into tiny inlets which penetrate the shore, the Japanese succeeded in making good a foothold protected by machinegun nests hidden in a tangle of logs and brush.

Then only British shells plunged into the mud flats and beaches, as bayonet swinging Australians and hardy Indians plunged into the thick of a hand-to-hand fight.

A "Suicide" Army
Pushed back to this last bit of British soil in Malaya in a two-months war, the defenders were a veritable suicide army, for they had little or no chance of escape in event of defeat.

They had to throw the Japanese out, or accept death. There was no talk of surrender.

The Japanese landing was effected from boats between 11 p. m. last night (11 a. m. EST Sunday) and 1 a. m. today, under cover of an intense artillery barrage, between Sungei Kranji and Pasir Laba, west of the narrow causeway which formerly linked Singapore with the Malayan mainland.

"Our forward troops were pushed back in some places and there has been some enemy infiltration eastwards," the communique acknowledged.

"Offensive action is being taken to mop up the enemy. The results of this action have not been received."

There were no indications of attempted invasion thrusts elsewhere along Johore strait, but the British said that Japanese bombers and fighters had been pounding their defenses everywhere since daybreak.

British hurricane fighters roared aloft to intercept the Japanese planes and were reported officially to have scored their biggest day's bag of the war over the beleaguered island.

In all, the British said, their fighters shot down three enemy planes, "probably" destroyed three others and damaged 13.

WAR TIME RUNS SMOOTHLY; ONLY FEW CLOCKS LAG

The change from solar to War Time, which took place officially at 2 a. m. today, didn't catch Gettysburg school children and factory workers napping, a checkup showed today, in spite of the fact that the court house clock and a few other public timepieces failed to catch up until mid-morning.

Factories here reported only a few workmen were late, while a check of the public schools here failed to show any tardy pupils whose late arrival could be traced to the change in the clock.

At the Gettysburg furniture factories employees began work at 7:30 a. m. and will stop at 5:30 o'clock this evening. Previously they began work at 7 a. m. and stopped at 5 o'clock.

At Fairfield high school the clocks were changed, but the pupils continue to go to school "by the sun." School hours have been changed so that instead of taking up school at 8:30 a. m., classes now begin at 9:30 o'clock with a consequent

1,000 Volunteers At Singapore Lack Training, But Not Loyalty

BY C. YATES MCDANIEL

Singapore, Feb. 8 (Delayed) (AP)—Approximately 1,000 Chinese youths and men who volunteered to fight in defense of Singapore got their baptism of fire today and they took it like seasoned veterans.

Five companies of these volunteers, many of whom had never even shouldered a gun until a week ago, were in the lines of the northern part of Singapore island when Japanese artillery on the other side of Johore strait began a heavy bombardment this morning.

The shelling appeared to have little effect on their nerves. Some of the Chinese, stationed in reserve areas, actually slept through the din.

The volunteers, recruited here from the ranks of laborers, tailors, shopkeepers and students, have been nicknamed the "Dallforce" after their organizer and commander, Col. John Dalley.

Before visiting the positions they are holding at the front I inspected a training depot in Singapore city where several hundred additional Chinese are receiving military instruction.

As Colonel Dalley's automobile drew up, several sentries garbed in an odd assortment of clothes came to attention in a highly individualized manner. One saluted with his right hand, one with his left and several called "Hello," but all had broad grins for their chief, who won great popularity during his 21 years of service as a police officer in Malaya.

The "Dallforce" armory presented a picture to delight the sportsman and to give an ordnance expert the shudders. Stacked around the warehouse were Swiss target rifles, double-barreled shotguns, sawed off riot guns, axes, knives, swords and improvised weapons of every description.

Behind the noise and cheerful commotion in the depot, however, there was evident a serious purpose, and the British officers—who in peacetime were planters and civil servants—believe so firmly in their men they are ready to lead them to the front after a few days of drill.

TEACHERS WILL LIST FAMILIES IN SUGAR PLAN

Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—The help of Pennsylvania's 60,000 school teachers in administering a nationwide sugar rationing program was pledged today by Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of public instruction.

"There is no doubt that Pennsylvania teachers will do whatever they can," he declared in commenting on the plan of Leon Henderson, federal price administrator, to organize sugar rationing at school buildings of the nation with the teachers administering the program.

The teachers, under the plan, will register each family in their district for sugar rationing cards and withhold books from those who have stocked up on sugar until their supplies are exhausted.

"The plan has the advantage of being a quick method of reaching everyone in the community and teachers will doubtless be glad to stay after school even if there is no source of extra revenue," Dr. Haas said.

To put the plan into operation in the state, he said, were some 60,000 teachers serving in approximately 10,000 schools, large and small.

1,000 Books Donated In Victory Campaign

With reports not yet complete and the Victory Book Campaign continuing through today and Tuesday, Dean W. E. The final sorting will be done Tuesday evening by members of the library committee of the Y.W.C.A. and the members of the Anna Danner club, he stated.

An appeal was made today to the student body of Gettysburg college to give books in the drive. High schools all over the county are helping with the campaign, Dean Tilberg said.

day at the island fortifications which command the harbor's mouth. Nevertheless, no serious damage to the forts was reported in the War Department communique which covered developments up until early Monday morning, Philippine time.

MILLER CASE BEFORE COURT

The pending motion for a new trial in the civil action by Miss Mary A. Miller against her brother, George A. Miller, which was decided at November court in Miss Miller's favor, was argued at length before the Adams county court on Saturday afternoon by counsel for the litigants.

J. Francis Yake, Esq., who represents Mr. Miller, has listed more than a score of reasons why a new trial should be granted. E. V. Buleit is counsel for Miss Miller. The court is expected to hand down an opinion in the case before the April session of court.

Straley, New Oxford, on a charge of cruelty to animals. He was accused by M. E. Basehor of shooting and wounding a bull and also with chasing the animal with an automobile until the animal was "virtually exhausted." The court divided the costs between Basehor and Gerrick.

The court was asked to pass upon a fine point in the solid fuel laws involving the question of whether a trucker whose weight slips are not in proper form is liable to prosecution in a county through which he passes between the point of origin and point of delivery of his cargo. Albert L. Snyder, Northumberland county, is the defendant in the case brought by John E. Millhimes, county sealer of weights and measures.

change all through the day. School closes now at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon (by the clock) instead of the former 3:30 o'clock.

At the Arendtsville vocational high school, a return has been made to a schedule in effect several years ago. For the winter months—from mid-November to mid-March—the school will open at 9 a. m. and close at 4 p. m. During other months of the school term the schedule will be 8:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Authorized by Congress
Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—Pennsylvanians went on War Time today, rising an hour earlier than usual in part of a national program to conserve electricity for busy war industries.

Here and there over the state, a few sheepish men and women hurried to work late this morning—they were the ones who forgot to turn their clocks ahead an hour before they went to bed last night. Most householders, however, remembered the chore and cheered themselves with the thought that six months after the war ends, when War Time will cease, they can regain the hour's sleep lost last night.

War Time, suggested and named by the President, was authorized by a recent act of Congress.

In Pennsylvania, many of those who had been bitter opponents of Daylight Saving Time—which accomplished the same thing in summer months—accepted War Time with good grace. Many welcomed it.

Miners in the hard coal fields, once firm against extension of Daylight Saving Time at the mines, have voted to cooperate.

In Pittsburgh, Robert Garland, the man whose efforts generally are credited with the establishment of Daylight Saving Time during the first World War, has said he "would go along with the President" although he once opposed year-around extension of the plan.

TEACHERS WILL LIST FAMILIES IN SUGAR PLAN

Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—The help of Pennsylvania's 60,000 school teachers in administering a nationwide sugar rationing program was pledged today by Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of public instruction.

"There is no doubt that Pennsylvania teachers will do whatever they can," he declared in commenting on the plan of Leon Henderson, federal price administrator, to organize sugar rationing at school buildings of the nation with the teachers administering the program.

The teachers, under the plan, will register each family in their district for sugar rationing cards and withhold books from those who have stocked up on sugar until their supplies are exhausted.

"The plan has the advantage of being a quick method of reaching everyone in the community and teachers will doubtless be glad to stay after school even if there is no source of extra revenue," Dr. Haas said.

To put the plan into operation in the state, he said, were some 60,000 teachers serving in approximately 10,000 schools, large and small.

MILLER CASE BEFORE COURT

The pending motion for a new trial in the civil action by Miss Mary A. Miller against her brother, George A. Miller, which was decided at November court in Miss Miller's favor, was argued at length before the Adams county court on Saturday afternoon by counsel for the litigants.

J. Francis Yake, Esq., who represents Mr. Miller, has listed more than a score of reasons why a new trial should be granted. E. V. Bulleit is counsel for Miss Miller. The court is expected to hand down an opinion in the case before the April session of court.

Judge W. C. Sheely on Saturday afternoon dismissed the appeal of Alvin Gerrick, Union township, who was found guilty before Justice of the Peace C. S. Straley, New Oxford, on a charge of cruelty to animals. He was accused by M. E. Basehoar of shooting and wounding a bull and also with chasing the animal with an automobile until the animal was "virtually exhausted." The court divided the costs between Basehoar and Gerrick.

The court was asked to pass upon a fine point in the solid fuel laws involving the question of whether a trucker whose weight slips are not in proper form is liable to prosecution in a county through which he passes between the point of origin and point of delivery of his cargo. Albert L. Snyder, Northumberland county, is the defendant in the case brought by John E. Millhines, county sealer of weights and measures.

Charles H. Pink, Hanover, was given a hearing on a charge of driving an overloaded truck. Decision in the case was held open to give attorneys five days in which to submit legal authorities for their positions.

After a hearing Herman Kuykendall, Gettysburg R. 5, was ordered to pay a weekly support sum, pay the doctor's bill, post a $500 bond and pay the costs in a case in which he was charged with a serious offense.

Donald P. McPherson, Jr., Esq., was named master in the divorce action by Wilda Ann Tawney against William E. Tawney.

Five birth records were created or corrected and others were presented that required correction or additional information. Accounts in seven estates were confirmed.

Court adjourned at 4:15 o'clock until next Saturday morning when a session will be held in judicial chambers.

AUTOIST IS FINED
E. G. Grabb, Harrisburg street, has been fined $10 and ordered to pay the costs on a charge of driving a car without an official state inspection sticker. The information was filed before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder by a state motor policeman.

change all through the day. School closes now at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon (by the clock) instead of the former 3:30 o'clock.

At the Arendtsville vocational high school, a return has been made to a schedule in effect several years ago. For the winter months—from mid-November to mid-March—the school will open at 9 a. m. and close at 4 p. m. During other months of the school term the schedule will be 8:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Authorized by Congress
Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—Pennsylvanians went on War Time today, rising an hour earlier than usual in part of a national program to conserve electricity for busy war industries.

Here and there over the state, a few sheepish men and women hurried to work late this morning—they were the ones who forgot to turn their clocks ahead an hour before they went to bed last night. Most householders, however, remembered the chore and cheered themselves with the thought that six months after the war ends, when War Time will cease, they can regain the hour's sleep lost last night.

War Time, suggested and named by the President, was authorized by a recent act of Congress.

In Pennsylvania, many of those who had been bitter opponents of Daylight Saving Times—which accomplished the same thing in summer months—accepted War Time with good grace. Many welcomed it.

Miners in the hard coal fields, once firm against extension of Daylight Saving Time at the mines, have voted to cooperate.

In Pittsburgh, Robert Garland, the man whose efforts generally are credited with the establishment of Daylight Saving Time during the first World War, has said he "would go along with the President" although he once opposed year-around extension of the plan.

History repeated itself at Chambersburg Saturday evening where the Chambersburg high cagers handed the Gettysburg high quintet its first defeat of the season to the tune of a 42-35 score roughly played in a South Penn league game.

Last year the Maroons went to Chambersburg with an 18-game winning streak and tasted defeat for the first time. This season the Maroons had piled up a 14-game winning streak.

Big Jeb Stewart was the whole show for the Trojans, ramming the baskets for a total of 23 points. The Maroon guards held the high-scoring Melhaffy to but six points.

The game was bitterly contested before an over-flow crowd. Chambersburg held a small lead throughout the better part of the game.

Trojans Take Lead
The Trojans took a 10-8 lead in the first period on two goals by Stewart and Melhaffy and a single twin-pointer by Patterson. Sachs looped a pair of goals and fouls with Carter connected for a goal and foul for the Maroon points. At half time Chambersburg held a 21-18 lead.

Stewart took charge of the game personally in the third period and dropped five field goals through the net. Brean, Fair, Carter and Plank each scored goals for the Maroons and the period ended 32-27 with the Trojans in front.

Stewart and Plank each tabbed six points in the final period which found Gettysburg unable to cut the Chambersburg margin.

Maroon Scrubs Bow
In the preliminary game the Chambersburg reserves noed out the Maroons in a bitter battle 21-20.

TO FIGHT CONN

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 9 (AP)—Larry Lane, Trenton light heavyweight, has accepted an offer to fight Billy Conn of Pittsburgh in Detroit or Milwaukee within a month in a benefit for the Navy Relief fund, Willie Gilzenberg, Lane's manager, said today.

Gilzenberg said the offer came from Lt. Cmdr. Frank Teller, United States Naval Reserve. The fight would be held three weeks after Conn's bout this Friday with Tony Zale, of Gary, Indiana.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Feb. 9 (Wide World)—Les MacMittell, who ran the Wanamaker mile in the "slow" time of 4:11.3 Saturday, spent Friday in bed with a cold. And Cornelius Warmerdam got the loudest cheer of the Mill-Rose meet when it was announced he had wiped out the meet pole vault record which had been set by Sueo Oye of Japan. Headline: "Lombardi traded to Braves for two players." Seems a fair enough trade unless Schnozz has reduced a lot since we last saw him. Sam Byrd, who quit baseball because of advancing age, has just become eligible for P.G.A. membership after serving five years as a golf pro. Paddy Driscoll of the Chicago Bears and Bill Chandler, Marquette cage coach, who played together on the Great Lakes Naval station teams during World War 1, admit their basketball outfit wasn't quite as good as the current team.

PENALTY—STROKE AND DISTANCE
When Goller Julian Kovas was playing Lido's famous seashore course, his ball landed on the ice of a deep channel. Trying to save the valuable bit of rubber as well as a penalty, Kovas shoved out a plank and stood on it to swing. Just as he finished the shot, the ice gave way and Julian had to hang onto the plank until caddies rescued him and carted him off to the warmth of the clubhouse, a mile away. There's no record of what became of the ball.

MONDAY MATINEE
Formula for success: Harry Markson, Mike Jacobs' chief drum-beater, can give at least six convincing reasons why Tony Zale should make a good fight against Billy Conn. But if you let him keep on, he'll break down and admit that he has ballyhooed himself into betting on a lot of guys named Lee Savold to lick Joe Louis. With the selection of Glenn Pressnell and Elmer Holm, Nebraska now has its first all-alumni football coaching staff—also a saving of some $13,000 in salaries. Looks as if Larry MacPhail were slipping—he not only failed to sign Wyatt Saturday, but after the confab Wyatt confided: "We talked more about crows than contracts." The first two weeks of the physical fitness program at dear old Rutgers resulted in eight "major" casualties and countless bruises but no deaths for D.O.R. yet.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Jim Reed, Topeka (Kans.) Daily Capital: "Why doesn't the Oregon coach who put the basketball officials in the crowd's nest back of the backboard plant the whistle-blowers in the stands with the spectators? Who ever heard of a spectator missing one from his pew?"

SPORTPOURRI
Fight rumors recorded—That Mike Jacobs is planning a Joe Louis show at Atlantic City, N. J., as a favor to Abe Greene, the New Jersey commissioner. And that a move is under way for a welter title scrap between Sailor Red Cochrane and Young Kid McCoy, who has just joined the Army. As three-cushion billiards players, Ted Lyons and Johnny Rigney seem to be pretty good White Sox players. Competing in a tourney at Ted's Chicago establishment, both had records of no victories and six losses at the last report. Marty Glickman, the ex-Syracuse sprinter, did a neat job of broadcasting the track meet Saturday without going in for syncretic excitement.

JUST THE LEAF-INGS
At their recent meeting, the International league baseballers got big-hearted and voted to help out the Toronto Maple Leafs by providing one player each to build up the last-place squad. First contributions were Jack Haley, Newark pitcher whose arm has been bad since he pitched an 18-inning game three years ago, and Lynn Myers, Rochester infielder whose greatest fame came from scoring seven runs in one game without getting a basehit.

SIMMONS SEES A'S ENDING 4TH

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 9 (AP)

—The Philadelphia Athletics who wound up last season in eighth, will finish the coming season in fourth place if they get the breaks and "no worse than fifth no matter what happens."

That's the starry-eyed prediction of Al Simmons, "old bucketfoot," who is now a coach for Connie Mack.

Simmons' optimism wasn't shaken by the fact that the Athletics lost their brightest star, outfielder Sam Chapman, and their regular second baseman, Benny McCoy, to the Army and Navy.

"We hit only a point less than the Yankees last season," he explained, "and we lost a lot of games that a little better pitching might have won. I think our hitting will be as good as our pitching better this year."

"Naturally, losing Chapman is going to hurt plenty. He hit 322 and drove in 106 runs last year. And McCoy was coming along fast and should have had a big year. But we've still got a pretty fair outfield with Bob Johnson, Dee Miles and Mike Kreevich and this young fellow 'Crash Davis' is a good looking second baseman."

As for the A's pitching, Simmons tabbed the prospects "mighty bright."

He predicted big things for Phil Marchildon, the young Canadian who won 12 games for the A's as a freshman last year.

He spoke highly of Jack Hallett, a big right-hander who came to the A's in the Kreevich deal.

He also said Russ Wolf, a 23-year-old recruit from Williamsport, Fred Caliguri and Dick Fowler, a trio of rookie right-handers, "look like pitchers who'll make the grade this season."

Dodgers Purchase Charley Gelbert

Charley Gelbert, freshman football coach at Gettysburg college, has been bought by the Brooklyn Dodgers, national league baseball champs, from Louisville of the American Association. The announcement was made Saturday.

Gelbert, who observed his thirty-sixth birthday anniversary January 26, will serve as relief man for Leo Durocher at shortstop. Durocher succeeded Gelbert with the St. Louis Cards after the latter shattered his leg in a hunting accident in 1932. At that time the Bullet coach was rated as the outstanding shortstop of the National league.

During his career Gelbert has played with the Cards, Cincinnati, Washington, Boston and several minor league teams.

KILLED OVER SWEATER

MAKES FIRST INDOOR VAULT OVER 15 FEET

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)

Cornelius Warmerdam, who tells the school children of Piedmont, California, never to tell a lie, proved to the 15,000 fans at the Millrose games Saturday night that he practices what he teaches.

Two weeks ago he promised that if the pole vault runway were lengthened to 137 feet he would make the world's first 15-foot indoor jump. The path was stretched that distance—and Warmerdam showed his appreciation by going 3 inch above the promised height.

The Californian sat on the sidelines while the other vaulters struggled to 12 feet, then he got into the fray with a borrowed pole because his own bamboo stick failed to arrive.

He made each succeeding height on his first try as he climbed past the former Millrose record of 14 feet 3 inches and the 14 foot 7 inch standard that previously stood as the best indoor accomplishment.

It was the thirteenth time Warmerdam had zoomed over the 15-foot mark and the first time he had turned the trick indoors. He is the only person to have accomplished it, indoors or out.

His achievement was one of the two world indoor marks established. Charles Hlad of Michigan Normal was clocked in .072 while winning his semifinal heat of the 60-yard high hurdles. Norwood Ewell of Penn State, equaled the accepted time of .061 in winning the 60-yard dash.

Greg Rice did 8:52.8 in winning his two-mile race, the second fastest time ever turned in for that event. Only Rice's own indoor mark of 8:51.1 has been faster.

of a sweater resulted in the fatal stabbing of Oren Showman, 38, of Latrobe, R. D. 1, state motor police reported last night. They held a mountain resident on a charge of stabbing Showman in the heart with a hunting knife.

Canadian Foot Specialist Dies

Williamsburg, Ont., Feb. 9 (AP)—Dr. M. W. Locke, noted foot specialist, died Saturday of a heart seizure while cranking his automobile.

Doctor Locke's work consisted mainly of treatment of the bones and muscles of the feet which he termed the most complicated piece of muscular machinery of the body. His skill became a watchword throughout his own community and then his fame spread until it became world wide.

He established a clinic and to it came patients from as far away as Alaska, India and South America.

"MUST SACRIFICE"

Philadelphia, Feb. 9 (AP)—If Americans are not willing to make sacrifices voluntarily during the war, says Karl Sholz of the Wharton school faculty, "then we will find that compulsion will supersede voluntary action. When compulsion comes," he told the Race Street Forum, "it is done, it will mean the end of democracy and it will savor of the very system against which we are now fighting."

DEMANDS RENEWED

Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—Pennsylvania school directors have renewed their demands for the right to dismiss married teachers without cause and for representation on the control board of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association. At the closing session of the Pennsylvania State School Directors Association Saturday, the directors voiced opposition to a proposal to cut the high school course to two years and elected D. E. Taylor, of Freeport, president to succeed D. A. Best, of East McKeesport.

TO HOLD RELAYS

Philadelphia, Feb. 9 (AP)—H. Jamison Swarts, athletic director at the University of Pennsylvania, says the annual Penn relays will be held this year despite the war. The university has sent invitations to 261 colleges, 618 high schools and 156 prep schools. "The carnival was held in 1918 and drew an unusually large field, considering the war," said Swarts.

The first two weeks of the physical fitness program at dear old Rutgers resulted in eight "major" casualties and countless bruises but no deaths for D.O.R. yet.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Jim Reed, Topeka (Kans.) Daily Capital: "Why doesn't the Oregon coach who put the basketball officials in the crowd's nest back of the backboard plant the whistle-tooters in the stands with the spectators? . . . Who ever heard of a spectator missing one from his pew?"

SPORTSMEN

Fight rumors recorded—That Mike Jacobs is planning a Joe Louis show at Atlantic City, N. J., as a favor to Abe Greene, the New Jersey commissioner. And that a move is under way for a welter title scrap between Sailor Red Cochrane and Young Kid McCoy, who has just joined the Army. . . . As three-cushion billiards players, Ted Lyons and Johnny Rigney seem to be pretty good White Sox pitchers. Competing in a tourney at Ted's Chicago establishment, both had records of no victories and six losses at the last report. . . . Marty Glickman, the ex-Syracuse sprinter, did a neat job of broadcasting the track meet Saturday without going in for synthetic excitement.

JUST THE LEAF-INGS

At their recent meeting, the International league baseballers got big-hearted and voted to help out the Toronto Maple Leafs by providing one player each to build up the last-place squad. . . . First contributions were Jack Haley, Newark pitcher whose arm has been bad since he pitched an 18-inning game three years ago, and Lynn Myers, Rochester infielder whose greatest fame came from scoring seven runs in one game without getting a basehit.

SIMMONS SEES A'S ENDING 4TH

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 9 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics who wound up last season in eighth, will finish the coming season in fourth place if they get the breaks and "no worse than fifth no matter what happens."

That's the starry-eyed prediction of Al Simmons, "old bucketfoot," who is now a coach for Connie Mack.

Simmons' optimism wasn't shaken by the fact that the Athletics lost their brightest star, outfielder Sam Chapman, and their regular second baseman, Benny McCoy, to the Army and Navy.

"We hit only a point less than the Yankees last season," he explained, "and we lost a lot of games that a little better pitching might have won. I think our hitting will be as good and our pitching better this year."

"Naturally, losing Chapman is going to hurt plenty. He hit 322 and drove in 106 runs last year. And McCoy was coming along fast and should have had a big year. But we've still got a pretty fair outfield with Bob Johnson, Dee Miles and Mike Kreevich and this young fellow 'Crash Davis' is a good looking second baseman."

As for the A's pitching, Simmons tabbed the prospects "mighty bright."

He predicted big things for Phil Marchildon, the young Canadian who won 12 games for the A's as a freshman last year.

He spoke highly of Jack Hallett, a big right-hander who came to the A's in the Kreevich deal.

He also said Russ Wolff, a 28-year-old recruit from Williamsport, Fred Culiguri and Dick Fowler, a trio of rookie right-handers, "look like pitchers who'll make the grade this season."

20,000 ACRES FLOODED

Yuba, Calif., Feb. 9 (AP)—Nearly 20,000 acres of fertile Sacramento valley farm land and scores of homes lay under several feet of water today after the Feather river ripped a gaping hole in a levee.

Dodgers Purchase Charley Gelbert

Charley Gelbert, freshman football coach at Gettysburg college, has been bought by the Brooklyn Dodgers, national league baseball champs, from Louisville of the American Association. The announcement was made Saturday.

Gelbert, who observed his thirty-sixth birthday anniversary January 26, will serve as relief man for Leo Durocher at shortstop. Durocher succeeded Gelbert with the St. Louis Cards after the latter shattered his leg in a hunting accident in 1932. At that time the Bullet coach was rated as the outstanding shortstop of the National league.

During his career Gelbert has played with the Cards, Cincinnati, Washington, Boston and several minor league teams.

MAKES FIRST INDOOR VAULT OVER 15 FEET

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Cornelius Warmerdam, who tells the school children of Piedmont, California, never to tell a lie, proved to the 15,000 fans at the Millrose games Saturday night that he practices what he teaches.

Two weeks ago he promised that if the pole vault runway were lengthened to 137 feet he would make the world's first 15-foot indoor jump. The path was stretched that distance—and Warmerdam showed his appreciation by going 3/4 inch above the promised height.

The Californian sat on the sidelines while the other vaulters struggled to 12 feet, then he got into the fray with a borrowed pole because his own bamboo stick failed to arrive.

He made each succeeding height on his first try as he climbed past the former Millrose record of 14 feet 3 inches and the 14 foot 7 1/2 inch standard that previously stood as the best indoor accomplishment.

It was the thirteenth time Warmerdam had zoomed over the 15-foot mark and the first time he had turned the trick indoors. He is the only person to have accomplished it, indoors or out.

His achievement was one of the two world indoor marks established. Charles Hlad of Michigan Normal was clocked in :07.2 while winning his semifinal heat of the 60-yard hurdles. Norwood Ewell of Penn State, equalled the accepted time of :06.1 in winning the 60-yard dash.

Greg Rice did 8:52.3 in winning his two-mile race, the second fastest time ever turned in for that event. Only Rice's own indoor mark of 8:51.1 has been faster.

Canadian Foot Specialist Dies

Williamsburg, Ont., Feb. 9 (AP)—Dr. M. W. Locke, noted foot specialist, died Saturday of a heart seizure while cranking his automobile.

Doctor Locke's work consisted mainly of treatment of the bones and muscles of the feet which he termed the most complicated piece of muscular machinery of the body.

His skill became a watchword throughout his own community and then his fame spread until it became world wide.

He established a clinic and to it came patients from as far away as Alaska, India and South America.

"MUST SACRIFICE"

Philadelphia, Feb. 9 (AP)—"If Americans are not willing to make sacrifices voluntarily" during the war, says Karl Sholz of the Wharton school faculty, "then we will find that compulsion will supersede voluntary action. When compulsion comes," he told the Race Street Forum, "If it does, it will mean the end of democracy and it will favor of the very system against which we are now fighting."

DEMANDS RENEWED

Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—Pennsylvania school directors have renewed their demands for the right to dismiss married teachers without cause and for representation on the control board of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association. At the closing session of the Pennsylvania State School Directors Association Saturday, the directors voiced opposition to a proposal to cut the high school course to two years and elected D. E. Taylor, of Freeport, president to succeed D. A. Best, of East Meekesport.

TO HOLD RELAYS

Philadelphia, Feb. 9 (AP)—H. Jamison Swarts, athletic director at the University of Pennsylvania, says the annual Penn relays will be held this year despite the war. The university has sent invitations to 261 colleges, 618 high schools and 156 prep schools. "The carnival was held in 1918 and drew an unusually large field, considering the war," said Swarts.

WINTER GARDENING
Of all the reading known to man
Which floods the presses of the hour,
The bit I'm happiest to scan
Is catalogue of fruit and flower
Which brings into my cosy room
The glory of next summer's bloom.

Outside the skies are bleak and gray.
The earth is blanketed with snow.
But here are pages which display
The loveliest, tenderest things that grow.
Here, though the gusty north wind blows,
In bud and bloom are phlox and rose.

What if the spring be weeks away
And earth is locked to all delight?
I can go gardening today.
Yes, and go gardening tonight.
I can plant everything I see
And wish they'd blossom thus for me.

I run the brief descriptions through
In fancy planting here and there.
I send for all creations new.
To brighten little spaces bare.
And nearer, nearer draws the spring
The while I'm winter gardening.

A home for disabled soldiers at Gettysburg: A project has been started by some benevolent gentlemen of the country for the establishment of a home for disabled soldiers. Gettysburg has been selected as the locality, and they have already purchased the lands for the purpose. They have bought thirty acres of ground extending from the Emmitsburg road to the Taneytown road, and immediately across the latter road to the Soldier's National cemetery. There is a fine grove of forest trees in the center, and an excellent spring of water on the grounds.

The plan had its origin chiefly in the city of New York, but many of the prominent men all over the country are enlisting in it. We hope it may succeed and we congratulate them upon the admirable choice they have made in selecting Gettyspaid was $4,000.—Star.

Today's Talk
By George Matthew Adams

CEMENT
I have been thinking about the great part that cement plays in life.
Hardly a foundation without it.
Streets, wells, reservoirs, cellars, fences—and endless other things testifying to its value.

Hardly a great building is built without it. You see, it holds things together!

But often, this cement is not properly used or mixed—and soon there is a crumbling and loss. Too little of the genuine cement. There was a time when workmen took pains in the use of cement, and we have examples all over the world where foundations and buildings have withstood all the ravages of time.

That is the way it is in friendship. If the things used to cement friendship are genuine, and there is plenty to cement that friendship, it is forever—or so long as life lasts.
A consideration for the other's feelings, charity toward his faults, a unity of interests and a tolerant understanding—these are the things that cement to bond all friendship and make it a lasting and lasting affair.

The one thing that is coming to cement this world together, for the common good of all, is going to be a new understanding of the fundamental values that must live if permanent peace is to be the ideal for which we all so fervently hope and pray.

The common good of all—a simple statement, but one that must be the foundation stone from which all efforts must be centered. Distances are almost eliminated with our modern inventions. Communication is almost instant from any part of the world. The hopes of the humblest must be taken into account. The world must be made safe for them.

Never before has such responsibility been forced upon the peoples of this earth. Not one intelligent human being can afford to shirk his responsibility, or his opportunity to serve. Good will must be cemented around this great globe if peace and happiness are to be achieved and made to endure.

STONE AND SANITY
That the days in which we live are serious, to a greater degree than at any other time in history, is realized by all but a very few. There is something definite that we can all do, but a very definite thing for us all to achieve is tone and sanity in our mental attitude toward events and conditions.

We can be helpful, and do the most good if we do not neglect those things which add to our happier mental outlook. For instance, we should read books that breathe contentment and inspire us, or which are humorous in content.
If living in the city, nothing so stimulates and renews one mentally and physically, as a spell in the country—away from all distractions and confusion.

It was this very thing of keeping tone and sanity that Kipling emphasized in his famous poem when he spoke of keeping one's head, while all about, other people were losing theirs—losing in the sense of being all confused.

The nervous system, which we all own—and should control—is a very elaborate and highly organized system. By keeping mentally calm and cheerful under the most trying circumstances, this nervous system renders wonderful service. Few of us quite realize the power of the mind that is ours. It is the supreme director over all our actions.

I see no reason for the publication of morbid books, or the production of plays that leave one depressed. All entertainment should be uplifting and leave one happier.

James To Issue Long-Expected Session Will Settle Fight Over Districts

Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—Governor James will issue a call this week for the long-expected wartime special session of Pennsylvania's Legislature to end the year-long dispute over congressional re-apportionment.

The call will also embrace subjects to add "the arsenal of America,"—the term James applied to the Keystone state—in maintaining a full-time war footing but the extent of the war subjects has yet to be defined.

Sources close to the Executive said James would decide early this week upon the date for the session but Capitol Hill expects the legislators to assemble next week, possibly Monday, February 16, or the following day.

Agree on Plan
The way was cleared for the session by a bi-partisan agreement in writing last week on a plan to reduce the state's delegation in the House of Representatives from 34 to 33 as required by the 1940 census.

The agreement called for the re-shuffling by Republicans of northern tier counties to eliminate one district and the re-grouping by Democrats of western Pennsylvania counties to cut one district in Allegheny county. One congressman will be elected on a state-wide basis.

The 1941 Legislature, with Democrats in control of the House and the Republicans ruling the Senate, failed to decide where the cut should be made and the problem was turned over to a special ten-member committee of five Republicans and five Democrats.

Rep. William L. Shaffer (D-Allegheny) withheld his signature from the agreement as indicating opposition to it in Allegheny county but leaders of both parties said sufficient votes were lined up in each branch to approve the agreement.

Parole Board Fight Looms
Governor James has indicated he would ask the special session to authorize county commissioners to appropriate money for local defense activities and to postpone effectiveness of a new law creating a new parole board. The act is scheduled to become effective June 1 but the Governor has delayed making appointments to the board, asserting this is no time to start new enterprises.

A fight over the parole setup postponement was indicated by a statement by Rep. Samuel M. Rosenfield (D-Phila) who sponsored the bill in the 1941 Legislature. Rosenfield said the new system which would shift much parole power from the present pardon board, is needed now more than ever and that "those of us who favor it will fight the governor's request with every means at our command."

Other suggestions that have been made for the special session include pay increases to school teachers; shortening of time requirements for professional training to meet a shortage of skilled workers; increase of grants to families on relief; increase of unemployment compensation benefits and reduction of the waiting period and an anti-sabotage law.

Cook Held In Death Of Philadelphia Girl
Philadelphia, Feb. 9 (AP)—Held without bail on homicide charges, William Delaney, 33-year-old short order cook waited in Holmesburg prison today pending a coroner's inquest in the slaying of 22-year-old Mary Burbulis, his pretty, blonde ex-sweetheart.

Delaney, also known as Ray Harris DuBoise, has admitted strangling the young waitress in a jealous rage early Friday. Detective Samuel Paccardi testified at a hearing before Magistrate Edward J. Connors.

Delaney told police, Ricciardi said, that he choked the former Montgomery county girl after she told him she had a date with another man. The two had lived together formerly, the detective said, and Delaney had asked the girl to marry him.

Miss Burbulis, who took the name "Mae Burns" when she came here a year ago, was found Friday afternoon in a packing case in an alley.

Delaney said his wife had died in Indianapolis in 1940. His three children were killed in a motor accident three months later, he said.

He said that he never read books with an unhappy ending. There are far too many stories in actual life that end that way.

The more we are educated in the love of all beauty, the healthier and happier we become. All Nature is steeped in beauty. The calm of the countryside and the soothing tone of the isolated forest are stimuli to the soul. I can understand the joy of the artist in his many sacrifices, for he is constantly spurred by an ideal of beauty.

Your Income Tax
No. 33

LOSSES OF FARMERS
Losses incurred in the operation of farms as business enterprises are deductible from gross income. If farm products are held for favorable markets, no deduction on account of shrinkage in weight or physical value, or by reason of deterioration in storage, is allowed, except as such shrinkage may be reflected in an inventory if used in determining profits.

The destruction, by frost, storm, flood, or fire of a prospective crop is not a deductible loss in computing income since it represents the loss of anticipated profits which have never been reported as income. Likewise, a farmer engaged in raising and selling livestock, such as cattle, sheep, and hogs, is not entitled to claim as a loss the value of animals that perish from among those animals that were raised on the farm, except as such loss is reflected in an inventory, if used. If livestock has been purchased for any purpose, and afterward dies from disease, exposure, or injury, or is killed by order of the authorities of a state or the United States, the actual purchase price of such livestock, less any depreciation allowable as a deduction in respect to such perished livestock, may be deducted as a loss if the loss is not compensated for by insurance or otherwise. The actual cost of other property (with proper adjustments for depreciation) which is destroyed by order of state or federal authorities may likewise be claimed as a loss. If reimbursement is made by a state or the United States in whole or in part on account of stock killed or other property destroyed in respect of which a loss was claimed in a prior year, the amount received is required to be reported as income for the year in which reimbursement is made. The cost of any feed, pasture, or care which has been deducted as an expense of operation must not be included as part of the cost of the stock for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of a deductible loss.

If gross income is ascertained by the use of inventories, no deduction can be taken separately for livestock or products lost during the year, whether purchased for resale or produced on the farm, as such losses will be reflected in the inventory by reducing the amount of livestock or products on hand at the close of the year, which has the effect of reducing gross income from business by the amount of the loss.

If an individual owns and operates a farm in addition to being engaged in another trade or business or calling, and sustains a loss from the farming operations, such loss may be deducted from gross income received from all sources in determining the taxpayer's net income, provided such farm is not operated for recreation or pleasure.

If a farm is operated for recreation or pleasure and not on a commercial basis, and if the expenses incurred in connection therewith are in excess of the receipts therefrom, the entire receipts from the sale of products may be ignored in rendering a return of income, and the expenses incurred, being regarded as personal expenses, will not constitute allowable deductions for Federal income-tax purposes.

JUDGE LOOMS AS 'DARK HORSE'
Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Ralph H. Smith of Pittsburgh was suggested in political circles today as a possible "dark horse" candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination with the backing of U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey.

"Keep your eye on Ralph Smith," declared a source friendly with the senator.

Guffey has admitted he has a candidate in mind but said he would not name him before a meeting of party leaders in Harrisburg next Saturday. The senator said his man was "the strongest candidate in the state at this time."

Smith, himself, had "no comment" and declared he had not been in contact with Guffey lately. The judge was a candidate for lieutenant governor on the unsuccessful slate backed by Guffey in the 1938 primary. That ticket was headed by Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, for governor. It lost to the slate headed by Charles Alvin Jones and backed by former State Chairman David L. Lawrence.

The senator would not comment on Auditor General F. Clair Ross or Luther A. Harr, former Philadelphia city treasurer, both regarded as seeking the nomination. State Chairman Meredith Meyers said recently these two were the only candidates as far as he was concerned.

Meyers and Guffey are both ex-ponents of an open primary while Lawrence wants the state committee to stick by its rule and endorse one slate. Lawrence and Ross have been friendly.

50-Year-Old Parrot Helps Couple Mark 71st Anniversary Cortland, N. Y., Feb. 9 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Gunn, 94 and 95 respectively, observe their 71st wedding anniversary today in the company of their daughter, Lou-retta, and their once-talkative, 50-year-old parrot, Dick.

The day brings memories of Gunn's grocery store operation prior to 25 years ago, when Dick rode the handlebars of his bicycle. The parrot occasionally breaks the silence yet with a "hello," "goodbye" or snatches of half-forgotten nursery rhymes.

The Gunns, now enfeebled by blindness, deafness and other infirmities of age, were married at Bridgewater, Pa. They moved into the Cortland area 57 years ago.

About 10 million women are employed in industry in the Union of Soviet Republics, the Department of Commerce reports.

An Evening Thought

Nature has sometimes made a fool, but a coxcomb is always of a man's own making.—Addison.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

A wedding—On Monday evening a wedding took place at the White House. The parties were Mr. Walter, of Virginia and Miss Tyler, daughter of the President of the United States.

Married: On Thursday last, by the Rev. S. Gutelius, Mr. William Cowner, to Miss Elizabeth Hulick—both of Mountjoy township.

On Thursday the 27th ult., by the Rev. Matthew Leake, Mr. Patrick Toy, to Miss Elizabeth Lynch—both of Berwick township, Adams county.

On the 27th ult., Martin Raffensberger, of York county, to Miss Sarah Mummert, of Hamilton township, Adams county.

Report of the Temperance Society of Gettysburg: This society was formed on the 22d day of September last, by a few persons in Gettysburg, who earnestly desired the reformation of several of the citizens, who were ruining themselves by the use of ardent spirits.

At the first meeting twenty-three persons joined and eight of the number were habitual drunkards. The society now numbers 118 members, and out of the number 40 were drunkards. Some of us had been drinking for 30 years, some for 20, and some for a less number of years. But two members have been expelled, and they have been reclaimed and are now doing well. We have met regularly once a week since September; our plan is to relate our experience, and thereby show the danger of tasting liquor, the awful effects of drunkenness, and the benefit in every way of temperance; our meetings are growing in interest as our list of members increases.

Respectively submitted,

John Bringham, Pres't
Vice Presidents: William M. Adams, Andrew Culp, James Wade, Adam Holtzworth, Elias Degroft and Conrad Neinstedt.

Standing Committee: Solomon Powers, David Little, Thomas Warren, Robert G. Clark and Adam Kitzmiller.

Secretaries: Jacob Aughinbaugh and Christian Zecker.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Dissolution: The partnership of Strickhouser and Wisotzkey, in the grocery and provision business, was dissolved by mutual consent on the 1st of January last. The books are in the hands of W. H. H. Wisotzkey, and immediate settlements are asked.

Geo. C. Strickhouser
W. H. H. Wisotzkey

Married: On the 27th ult., by the Rev. Dr. Hauer, Mr. Jno. W. Bosley, of Baltimore county, Md., to Miss Cinderella Stansbury, of Adams County. On the 21st ult., by Rev. E. Breidenbaugh, Mr. Samuel Bingham to Miss Sarah Bingham, both of Cashtown.

On the 26th ult., by Rev. D. W. Wolff, Mr. D. H. Weaver to Miss Lizzie Crum, of Menallen township. On the 31st ult., near Hunters-town, by Rev. D. M. Blackwelder, Mr. Harry Welcome to Miss Louisa Spangler, both of Tyrone twp.

WINTER GARDENING

Of all the reading known to man Which floods the presses of the hour,

The bit I'm happiest to scan Is catalogue of fruit and flower Which brings into my cosy room The glory of next summer's bloom.

Outside the skies are bleak and gray, The earth is blanketed with snow, But here are pages which display The loveliest, tenderest things that grow.

Here, though the gusty north wind blows, In bud and bloom are phlox and rose.

What if the spring be weeks away And earth is locked to all delight? I can go gardening today.

Yes, and go gardening tonight. I can plant everything I see And wish they'd blossom thus for me.

I run the brief descriptions through In fancy planting here and there. I send for all creations new To brighten little spaces bare.

And nearer, nearer draws the spring The while I'm winter gardening.

tion is greatly needed in our county, and cannot but prove a success. We will publish the advertisement in full next week.

The Grand jury of the District of Columbia has found a bill of indictment against John H. Surratt (who has just arrived in this country from Egypt, where he was arrested) for the murder as an accessory, of the late President Lincoln.

Died: On the 4th inst., James Cunningham, Esq., a much respected and very worthy citizen of Freedom township, aged 79 years.

On the 31st ult., in this place, infant daughter of Capt. A. M. and Annie M. Hunter, aged 2 weeks.

On the 1st inst., at Bendersville, Bruce, infant son of Wm. A. and Kate Pitzer, aged 2 mos. and 29 days.

On Monday evening in Baltimore, Mrs. Catharine Herreter, formerly of this place, aged 71 years and 3 months.

The President, we learn from the Richmond Examiner of February 1st, has recently pardoned John Letcher, Rebel and ex-Governor of Virginia. Letcher is now the Examiner's candidate for Governor.

Mr. Reubin Golden has sold his property just below the cemetery to Dr. D. Study, for $1,100 cash. It cost Mr. G. about $500 two years ago.

A home for disabled soldiers at Gettysburg: A project has been started by some benevolent gentlemen of the country for the establishment of a home for disabled soldiers. Gettysburg has been selected as the locality, and they have already purchased the lands for the purpose. They have bought thirty acres of ground extending from the Emmitsburg road to the Taneytown road, and immediately across the latter road to the Soldier's National cemetery. There is a fine grove of forest trees in the center, and an excellent spring of water on the grounds.

The plan had its origin chiefly in the city of New York, but many of the prominent men all over the country are enlisting in it. We hope it may succeed and we congratulate them upon the admirable choice they have made in selecting Gettysburg.

The land was purchased from Hon. David Ziegler, and the price paid was $4,000.—Star.

CEMENT

I have been thinking about the great part that cement plays in life. Hardly a foundation without it. Streets, wells, reservoirs, cellars, fences—and endless other things testifying to its value.

Hardly a great building is built without it. You see, it holds things together!

But often, this cement is not properly used or mixed—and soon there is a crumbling and loss. Too little of the genuine cement. There was a time when workmen took pains in the use of cement, and we have examples all over the world where foundations and buildings have withstood all the ravages of time.

That is the way it is in friendship. If the things used to cement friendship are genuine, and there is plenty to cement that friendship, it lasts forever—or so long as life lasts.

A consideration for the other's feelings, charity toward his faults, a unity of interests, and a tolerant understanding—these act as a cement to bind all friendship and make it a living and lasting affair.

The one thing that is going to cement this world together, for the common good of all, is going to be a new understanding of the fundamental values that must live if permanent peace is to be the ideal for which we all so fervently hope and pray.

The common good of all—a simple statement, but one that must be the foundation stone from which all efforts must be centered. Distances are almost eliminated with our modern inventions. Communication is almost instant from any part of the

James To Issue Long-Expected Legislature Call This Week

SESSION WILL SETTLE FIGHT OVER DISTRICTS

Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—Governor James will issue a call this week for the long-expected wartime special session of Pennsylvania's Legislature to end the year-long dispute over congressional re-apportionment.

The call will also embrace subjects to add "the arsenal of America,"—the term James applied to the Keystone state—in maintaining a full-time war footing but the extent of the war subjects has yet to be defined.

Sources close to the Executive said James would decide early this week upon the date for the session but Capitol Hill expects the legislators to assemble next week, possibly Monday, February 16, or the following day.

Agree on Plan
The way was cleared for the session by a bi-partisan agreement in writing last week on a plan to reduce the state's delegation in the House of Representatives from 34 to 33 as required by the 1940 census.

The agreement called for the reshuffling by Republicans of northern tier counties to eliminate one district and the re-grouping by Democrats of western Pennsylvania counties to cut one district in Allegheny county. One congressman will be elected on a state-wide basis.

The 1941 Legislature, with Democrats in control of the House and the Republicans ruling the Senate, failed to decide where the cut should be made and the problem was turned over to a special ten-member committee of five Republicans and five Democrats.

Rep. William L. Shaffer (D-Allegheny) withheld his signature from the agreement as indicating opposition to it in Allegheny county but leaders of both parties said sufficient votes were lined up in each branch to approve the agreement.

Parole Board Fight Looms
Governor James has indicated he would ask the special session to authorize county commissioners to appropriate money for local defense activities and to postpone effectiveness of a new law creating a new parole board. The act is scheduled to become effective June 1 but the Governor has delayed making appointments to the board, asserting this is no time to start new enterprises.

A fight over the parole setup postponement was indicated by a statement by Rep. Samuel M. Rosenfield (D-Phila) who sponsored the bill in the 1941 Legislature. Rosenfield said the new system which would shift much parole power from the present pardon board, is needed now more than ever and that "those of us who favor it will fight the governor's request with every means at our command."

Other suggestions that have been made for the special session include pay increases to school teachers; shortening of time requirements for professional training to meet a shortage of skilled workers; increase of grants to families on relief; increase of unemployment compensation benefits and reduction of the waiting period and an anti-sabotage law.

World. The hopes of the humblest must be taken into account. The world must be made safe for them.

Never before has such responsibility been forced upon the peoples of this earth. Not one intelligent human being can afford to shirk his responsibility, or his opportunity to serve. Good will must be cemented around this great globe if peace and happiness are to be achieved and made to endure.

WE CAN BE HELPFUL
That the days in which we live are serious, to a greater degree than at any other time in history, is realized by all but a very few. There is something definite that we can all do, but a very definite thing for us all to achieve is tone and sanity in our mental attitude toward events and conditions.

We can be helpful, and do the most good if we do not neglect those things which add to our happier mental outlook. For instance, we should read books that breathe contentment and inspire us, or which are humorous in content. If living in the city, nothing so stimulates and renews one mentally and physically, as a spell in the country—away from all distractions and confusion.

It was this very thing of keeping tone and sanity that Kipling emphasized in his famous poem when he spoke of keeping one's head, while all about, other people were losing theirs—losing in the sense of being all confused.

The nervous system, which we all own—and should control—as a very elaborate and highly organized system. By keeping mentally calm and cheerful under the most trying circumstances, this nervous system renders wonderful service. Few of us quite realize the power of the mind that is ours. It is the supreme dictator over all our actions.

I see no reason for the publication of morbid books, or the production of plays that leave one depressed. All entertainment should be uplifting and leave one happier. The late Theodore Roosevelt once

LOSSES OF FARMERS

Losses incurred in the operation of farms as business enterprises are deductible from gross income. If farm products are held for favorable markets, no deduction on account of shrinkage in weight or physical value, or by reason of deterioration in storage, is allowed, except as such shrinkage may be reflected in an inventory if used in determining profits.

The destruction by frost, storm, flood, or fire of a prospective crop is not a deductible loss in computing income since it represents the loss of anticipated profits which have never been reported as income. Likewise, a farmer engaged in raising and selling livestock, such as cattle, sheep, and hogs, is not entitled to claim as a loss the value of animals that perish from among those animals that were raised on the farm, except as such loss is reflected in an inventory, if used.

If livestock has been purchased for any purpose, and afterward dies from disease, exposure, or injury, or is killed by order of the authorities of a state or the United States, the actual purchase price of such livestock, less any depreciation allowable as a deduction in respect to such perished livestock, may be deducted as a loss if the loss is not compensated for by insurance or otherwise. The actual cost of other property (with proper adjustments for depreciation) which is destroyed by order of state or federal authorities may likewise be claimed as a loss. If reimbursement is made by a state or the United States in whole or in part on account of stock killed or other property destroyed in respect of which a loss was claimed in a prior year, the amount received is required to be reported as income for the year in which reimbursement is made. The cost of any feed, pasture, or care which has been deducted as an expense of operation must not be included as part of the cost of the stock for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of a deductible loss.

If gross income is ascertained by the use of inventories, no deduction can be taken separately for livestock or products lost during the year, whether purchased for resale or produced on the farm, as such losses will be reflected in the inventory by reducing the amount of livestock or products on hand at the close of the year, which has the effect of reducing gross income from business by the amount of the loss.

If an individual owns and operates a farm in addition to being engaged in another trade or business or calling, and sustains a loss from the farming operations, such loss may be deducted from gross income received from all sources in determining the taxpayer's net income, provided such farm is not operated for recreation or pleasure.

If a farm is operated for recreation or pleasure and not on a commercial basis, and if the expenses incurred in connection therewith are in excess of the receipts therefrom, the entire receipts from the sale of products may be ignored in rendering a return of income, and the expenses incurred, being regarded as personal expenses, will not constitute allowable deductions for Federal income-tax purposes.

Cook Held In Death Of Philadelphia Girl
Philadelphia, Feb. 9 (AP)—Held without bail on homicide charges, William Delancey, 33-year-old short order cook waited in Holmesburg prison today pending a coroner's inquest in the slaying of 22-year-old Mary Burbulis, his pretty, blonde ex-sweetheart.

Delancey, also known as Ray Harris DuBoise, has admitted strangling the young waitress in a jealous rage early Friday. Detective Samuel Piccardi testified at a hearing before Magistrate Edward J. Connors.

Delancey told police, Riccardi said, that he choked the former Montgomery county girl after she told him she had a date with another man. The two had lived together formerly, the detective said, and Delancey had asked the girl to marry him.

Miss Burbulis, who took the name "Mae Burns" when she came here a year ago, was found Friday afternoon in a packing case in an alley.

Delancey said his wife had been in Indianapolis in 1940. His three children were killed in a motor accident three months later, he said.

He said he never read books with an unhappy ending. There are far too many stories in actual life that end that way.

The more we are educated in the love of all beauty, the healthier and happier we become. All Nature is steeped in beauty. The calm of the countryside and the soothing tone of the isolated forest are stimuli to the soul. I can understand the joy of the artist in his many sacrifices, for he is constantly spurred by an ideal of beauty.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Great Writers."

Transients Should Avoid Living Rooms Even If Barn Is Cold

A transient wearing four hats and "about a dozen" extra pairs of socks and with $150 sewed in the lining of his vest was arrested Sunday evening at the Narrows home of Mrs. James C. Cole by Sheriff D. J. Wolff and Private John Thompson. Of the Gettysburg detail of the state motor police.

Mrs. William I. Shickles, Jr., daughter of Mrs. Cole, said that the man, who identified himself as Isaac Ground, 44, of no fixed address, had entered the Cole home and refused to leave. He announced it was too cold to sleep in the barn and that he decided to sleep on a couch in the Cole dwelling.

When the officers attempted to search Ground he went into action and it became necessary to handcuff him and remove him by force from the Cole dwelling.

A search of his person and several boxes he carried revealed—in addition to the extra articles of wearing apparel and the cash—shoestrings, safety pins, thread, writing tablets, a half loaf of bread, pins, hair nets, scissors, needles, thimbles, combs, shaving brushes and beeswax.

Ground was fingerprinted and photographed this morning and then arraigned before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder for a hearing. Ground denied he had been ordered out of the Cole home and said he often had been allowed to sleep in the barn there.

This assignment was in an Italian parish, and when he was transferred to Mount St. Mary's the bishop of the diocese said he was losing one of his most valuable men.

He is survived by two brothers, John J. and William A. O'Connell, as well as two sisters, Mary C. and Ellen V., all of New York.

PHILADELPHIA FIRE DESTROYS ENTIRE BLOCK

Philadelphia, Feb. 9 (AP)—The city's most destructive fire in 18 years ravaged a large block of business buildings and homes last night and early today, causing damage firemen said would exceed $1,000,000.

A woman spectator—one of nearly 50,000 who crowded into the thickly populated area at Columbia and Ridge avenues—said she saw a "teen-aged boy" plunge from a rooftop into the flames when a wall collapsed, but police reported no one was missing.

A 30-mile-an-hour north wind sent flames hundreds of feet into the air. Eight alarms were sounded. Forty fire companies and 75 pieces of apparatus joined the fight.

More than 50 firemen and spectators were injured by flying glass and falling debris. One fireman was believed to have suffered a broken back, another a broken leg.

Fifty families were left homeless and 1,000 were driven from their homes temporarily by smoke and fear of the fire spreading.

Many ran into the streets in scanty clothing despite the 24-degree temperature. Power and light lines fell under coatings of ice.

Neighbors said an explosion preceded the fire which started in the four-story warehouse of the Acme Furniture company. Owners of the company said their damage alone was about $200,000.

Guy E. Pearson, the city's chief air raid warden, called nearly 2,000 district wardens to handle the crowds. He praised their work but said "This would be some mess if it were a real bomb attack."

TANGIER RIOTS ARE ENDED BY MARTIAL LAW

Madrid, Feb. 9 (AP)—Riotous factions in Tangier were kept throttled by Spanish Morocco authorities under martial law today after the latest in a chain of mysterious, violent events laid to competition of Britain and Germany for Arab support in the Mediterranean war zone.

The outbreak was touched off by the explosion Friday of a time-bomb in a taxi loaded with British diplomatic baggage on a crowded Tangier pier.

The violent blast killed 14 persons; several others among 35 wounded are believed to be dying. The explosion destroyed the taxi, two other automobiles, part of the pier and the customs house.

Thousands of inhabitants of Tangier, in the Spanish-ruled former international zone across the strait of Gibraltar from Britain's "rock," immediately gave vent to their ire, parading past several foreign missions and government houses with banners saying, "Tangier is not at war!"

DANGEROUS BAGGAGE

BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

Chapter Ten
410 VOLTS

SHARON scarcely had time to thrust the strange warning under her desk blotter before Tom came back to his desk. Fighting for time to regain her composure, she pretended to study a letter lying open on her desk. Eyes blind to the actual print, her thoughts flew helter skelter. Had Tom planned that warning? Who else would have? And why should he so persistently try to get her out of her job? Was he aware that she suspected him?

Suddenly she was aware that Tom stood just behind her, looking over her shoulder. Glancing up, she saw a smile tripping up the corners of his mouth.

"Look, my sweet, if you'd turn that right side up, maybe you could read it better," and calmly taking the letter out of her hand, he righted it, held it in front of her. "See?" and grinned maddeningly. "Day-dreaming and during office hours too! Tsk! Tsk! What would the Colonel say?"

Exasperated, Sharon snatched the letter. "Oh, mind your own business. I was thinking."

Tom shook his head. "That's a dangerous pastime."

"How do you know? Ever try it?" She hid her uneasiness behind a saucy smile.

"Sure. Since daylight this morning I've been thinking about a certain pretty Irish girl I know."

"You're paid to think about Sierra Steel."

"I do that, too. Look." He picked up a blueprint from his desk, laid it before her. "Here's my latest brain storm. New wiring for the plant. More machinery. More production. See—two new furnaces where only one grew before. Smart, aren't I?"

"That's what you think. What does Mr. Goodwin say?"

"He says I'm the white hope of Sierra Steel. Aren't you glad you know me?"

"I'll be glad when I know you're back in Pittsburgh," she said archly. Then she hazarded a long shot. "Then, maybe we'll settle down to business instead of school-boy pranks."

But Tom's expression didn't change by a fleeting flicker. If he planned that note, he certainly didn't intend she should know it.

"Now was that kind? Here I've brought in the only ray of sunshine into this dank hole and that's all the thanks I get." Slapping his hat on the back of his head, he picked up his brief case, thrust the blue prints into it, grinned at her. "Since you don't love me any more, I'll go on down to the plant and firt with the electrodes."

Sharon couldn't help answering that infectious grin. "Good. Now I can get some work done."

Tom sobered, said with mock gravity. "Will you miss me?"

"I think I can bear up if I try hard."

"That's my plucky sweetheart," and patted her shoulder. "You can just count the hours until I get back. Then I'll take you to dinner."

"Thanks too much. But I have a date for tonight."

"That guy Goodwin certainly gets around, doesn't he?"

Sharon raised dark arching brows at him. "I'm having dinner with my brother."

"Oh, well, why didn't you say so? I've been wanting to meet that boy. Have him join us at Joe's on the Wharf. You like clam chowder?"

Sharon just looked at him, hands on her hips. "I suppose it does sound fantastic to you, but I do not care to have dinner with you at Joe's or anywhere else. Understand?"

"No sabs," Tom shook his head. "No speakin' 'Merican. See'm byembye." And hands thrust up his sleeves like a Chinese mandarin, he bowed himself out.

"Fool!" Sharon laughed aloud and then, remembering the mysterious note, waited until she heard the elevator door clang shut. Then she fled to Mr. Goodwin's office.

He glanced up, frowning. "I found this note in my typewriter just now." She laid the note on his desk.

For a moment, his face remained inscrutable. Then, he smiled slowly. "Somebody's idea of a practical joke?"

"Probably."

"Any idea who?"

"Tom, of course."

He nodded. "He'd like to see you out of here."

"Has he told you that too?"

"Several times." Mr. Goodwin shrugged contemptuously. "I've an idea he wants to put an associate in your place. I told him I'd think it over."

Sharon held her breath. "Do you, too, think I am too inexperienced for the job?"

"Certainly not. But neither do I think Stafford believes I find you indispensable. That makes your position a little less hazardous."

"But why would he write this anonymously? It's so melodramatic, so silly to think I could be frightened out this way!"

"He underestimates your courage, Sharon." He picked up the note, tore it into fragments. "Just ignore it. You are in no immediate danger. I assure you of that."

"But if he is working right now to put an accomplice right here in the office, isn't it time for you to put a stop?"

Goodwin's face hardened. "I think I'm perfectly capable of acting without your advice. And the less you know about the situation, the less you would have to tell under pressure."

Sharon flared. "You don't trust me?"

"I do. But secrets are dangerous baggage. I thought you understood that."

"Yes," Sharon flushed. "I do. I'm sorry."

"Very good, then. You just concern yourself with doing your part of the job."

Winning under his rebuke, Sharon escaped to her own office. There she dropped into her chair, buried her face on her arm until she could control the tears she'd threatened. All the ground she'd gained in the last several weeks, seemed lost now. She'd presumed on Goodwin's kindness and encouragement and forgotten her place so completely that he'd had to put her back into it just as if she were any impudent underling!

Why couldn't she keep her thoughts to herself! She'd deserved that rebuke. But—she straightened, wiped her tears, attacked the mail stacked on her desk—she'd never earn another! She would prove herself indispensable. And, as her fingers flew over the keyboard, she'd think of a new approach to Tom. There must be some way to win his confidence. If he still thought her just a misguided sub-deb, then she could capitalize on that. She'd begin the moment he came back.

But Tom didn't show up all day. At quarter of five she locked the files, cleared her desk, stalled for time in the hope that Tom would appear.

She gave up, finally, pulled on her hat. Maybe he'd call her at home. It wouldn't be like him to have taken her "No" for an answer.

The phone rang just as she was closing the door. It was MacDonald, the plant foreman.

"Mr. Goodwin there?"

"He's gone for the day. Any message?"

"Yeah. There's been a bad accident at the plant. The engineer got hurt."

"You mean—Tom? Mr. Stafford?"

"That's right. We're taking him to Good Samaritan hospital now. Can you get word to Mr. Goodwin?"

"Yes. Yes, I'll call him."

When she hung up, Sharon sat staring at the phone. Tom hurt—dead, maybe! She couldn't believe it! Not Tom Stafford. That big grin, that generous, good-natured laugh that spilled out from some depth within him—silenced! Impossible. And yet—slowly implications unfolded—had it really been an accident or, she shuddered, one of Tom's own detestable plans that backfired!

For a previous half hour, Sharon had tried vainly to locate Harvey Goodwin. Pavio, the houseboy, told her he had left word he would not be in for dinner. He was not in his club. We was at none of his favorite cocktail lounges. Even Countess Cayetuna couldn't guess where he might be.

Sharon finally called a taxi, went out to the Good Samaritan herself.

Macdonald, the grizzled Scotsman who ran the plant, met her in the corridor outside Tom's room.

"We don't just know how it happened, Miss Doyle," he said in answer to her instant question. "Stafford had started work on his re-wiring job in the plant. Peterson, the lad we had helping him, come up behind him with a coil of wire. He sees a live wire lying there and yells to Stafford to know what to do with it."

"The old Scot stopped, drew on his short briar pipe reflectively a moment."

"Yes. Go on, please," Sharon prompted him.

"Stafford's up on a ladder and don't hear him of course. When them furnaces is roaring, you couldn't hear a bomb burst. So Peterson reaches up to touch Stafford's arm, attract his attention. Stafford's working with his shirt off, you know. Pretty hot next to a furnace that's up to about 3,000 degrees."

"But—What happened?" Sharon begged frantically.

"Why, Stafford turns, sees him just in time to jerk out of reach," the garrulous old man went on. "And that's all that saved Peterson's life."

"Why, what do you mean?"

"That wire Stafford was monkeying with carried about 440 volts. Being up on the ladder, Stafford was properly insulated from the ground. The kid was standing square in a puddle of water dripped from a leaky faucet I been meaning to get fixed."

"Please go on."

"Well, if the kid had touched Stafford he'd made a circuit, see? He'd been dead before he knew what hit him." He shook his head. "Dumb kid. Stafford had warned him, too."

"But what about Mr. Stafford. How did he get hurt?"

"Lost his balance when he jerked out of Peterson's way, grounded himself by grabbing at a pipe. He must of got the full load of them 440 volts."

"Oh—no!"

PHILADELPHIA FIRE DESTROYS ENTIRE BLOCK

Philadelphia, Feb. 9 (AP)—The city's most destructive fire in 18 years ravaged a large block of business buildings and homes last night and early today, causing damage firemen said would exceed $1,000,000.

A woman spectator—one of nearly 50,000 who crowded into the thickly populated area at Columbia and Ridge avenues—said she saw a "teen-ager" plunge from a rooftop into the flames when a wall collapsed, but police reported no one was missing.

A 30-mile-an-hour north wind sent flames hundreds of feet into the air. Eight alarms were sounded. Forty fire companies and 75 pieces of apparatus joined the fight.

More than 50 firemen and spectators were injured by flying glass and falling debris. One fireman was believed to have suffered a broken back, another a broken leg.

Fifty families were left homeless and 1,000 were driven from their homes temporarily by smoke and fear of the fire spreading.

Many ran into the streets in scanty clothing despite the 24-degree temperature. Power and light lines fell under coatings of ice.

Neighbors said an explosion preceded the fire which started in the four-story warehouse of the Acme Furniture company. Owners of the company said their damage alone was about $200,000.

Guy E. Pearson, the city's chief air raid warden, called nearly 2,000 district wardens to handle the crowds. He praised their work but said "This would be some mess if it were a real bomb attack."

TANGIER RIOTS ARE ENDED BY MARTIAL LAW

Madrid, Feb. 9 (AP)—Riotous factions in Tangier were kept throttled by Spanish Morocco authorities under martial law today after the latest in a chain of mysterious, violent events laid to competition of Britain and Germany for Arab support in the Mediterranean war zone.

The outbreak was touched off by the explosion Friday of a time-bomb in a taxi loaded with British diplomatic baggage on a crowded Tangier pier.

The violent blast killed 14 persons; several others among 36 wounded are believed to be dying. The explosion destroyed the taxi, two other automobiles, part of the pier and the customs house.

Thousands of inhabitants of Tangier, in the Spanish-seized former international zone across the strait of Gibraltar from Britain's "rock," immediately gave vent to their ire, parading past several foreign missions and government houses with banners saying, "Tangier is not at war!"

Mrs. William I. Shields, Jr., daughter of Mrs. Cole, said that the man, who identified himself as Isaac Ground, 44, of no fixed address, had entered the Cole home and refused to leave. He announced it was too cold to sleep in the barn and that he decided to sleep on a couch in the Cole dwelling.

When the officers attempted to search Ground he went into action and it became necessary to handcuff him and remove him by force from the Cole dwelling.

A search of his person and several boxes he carried revealed—in addition to the extra articles of wearing apparel and the cash—shoestrings, safety pins, thread, writing tablets, a half loaf of bread, pins, hair nets, scissors, needles, thimbles, combs, shaving brushes and beeswax.

Ground was fingerprinted and photographed this morning and then arraigned before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder for a hearing. Ground denied he had been ordered out of the Cole home and said he often had been allowed to sleep in the barn there.

Death

This assignment was in an Italian parish, and when he was transferred to Mount St. Mary's the bishop of the diocese said he was losing one of his most valuable men.

Father O'Connell was a keen student of Italian literature and spoke the language fluently. He also was a serious student.

He is survived by two brothers, John J. and William A. O'Connell, as well as two sisters, Mary C. and Ellen V., all of New York.

DANGEROUS BAGGAGE

BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

Chapter Ten
440 VOLTS

SHARON scarcely had time to thrust the strange warning under her desk blotter before Tom came back to his desk. Fighting for time to regain her composure, she pretended to study a letter lying open on her desk. Eyes blind to the actual print, her thoughts flew nether skelter. Had Tom planted that warning? Who else would have? And why should he so persistently try to get her out of her job? Was he aware that she suspected him?</

NURSE CHARGED IN OPIUM DEATH OF CRYING BABY

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—"One of the finest nurses that ever walked the floor" of the Bronx Maternity hospital was charged today with the opium-drops slaying of a newborn baby girl whose crying upset her.

That description, augmented by the statement she was "an elegant nurse," was given yesterday by hospital superintendent Louise M. Wagner as Irma Twiss, 32, herself in tears, was formally accused of homicide in the death of the infant and also accused of feeding the narcotic to another.

"The babies' constant crying drove me crazy," Miss Twiss was quoted by Assistant District Attorney Martin Kraus as saying before being jailed without bail for a hearing Wednesday.

Kraus said the slim, brunette nurse had admitted she was held four days for observation in Bellevue hospital's psychopathic ward in November, 1940, after she had taken an overdose of sleeping tablets.

He added that she had returned to the Bronx institution three months ago after having received leave last summer to have a baby, which did not live.

Physicians held out some hope for the second baby today, although it was in dangerous condition.

Neither Mrs. Castro Valle, 33, mother of the dead child, nor Mrs. Fred Fantagone, 34, mother of the other baby—a four-day-old girl—were informed of their infants' fate.

Valle became hysterical when told of the tragedy. It was his and Mrs. Valle's first child in 11 years. Their only other baby, also a girl, was born dead.

"Iron Division" At Camp Livingston

Camp Livingston, La., Feb. 9 (AP)—Pennsylvania's "Iron Division," the 28th, has taken up quarters at this southern base, the War department officially announced.

The division came here about a month ago from Indiantown Gap, Pa., which has been its permanent home for many years, but the move was not reported because of wartime conditions.

The 28th was a National Guard outfit until it was federalized more than a year ago and its personnel largely is made up of Pennsylvania residents.

The division's new commander, Brig. Gen. J. D. Orr assumed his duties after the transfer. He succeeded Maj. Gen. Edward Martin, who was assigned to Fifth Corps Area headquarters at Columbus, Ohio, for special duty.

Musmanno Candidate For Supreme Court

Pittsburgh, Feb. 9 (AP)—Judge M. A. Musmanno of Allegheny county Common Pleas court has announced his candidacy for the state Supreme Court to succeed Justice William I. Schaffer, who retires at the end of the year.

Musmanno pledged he would continue his course of bringing "justice under law to everybody regardless of position, rank, creed or color."

Last November he was defeated for the state Superior Court by Judge Charles E. Kenworthy, Republican.

"But I received 1,269,850 votes and led the entire Democratic ticket," he said. "This I regard as an expression of confidence by the people in my qualifications."

GUARD IS KILLED

Media, Pa., Feb. 9 (AP)—The Army's war-time silence Saturday surrounded the death of Private J. W. Baynard, 26, young Maryland soldier whose body was found on a guard post near the suburban water company's reservoir dam. Baynard was on active duty guarding the dam at the time of his death. Officials said only that a bullet from his own rifle caused death.

Upper Darby, Pa., Feb. 9 (AP)—J. H. Wood, regional director of the Farm Security Administration, says the nation's farmers will have a payroll of more than $1,000,000,000 in 1942. Last year, farm wages totaled nearly that figure, 30 per cent more than in 1940.

Sentries To Get Chicken Dinner Free, Wednesdays

Fort Custer, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP)—Being a sentry at Fort Custer guard house No. 4 has its reward.

One cold night this week a soldier pacing his post was approached by a man burdened with a large basket.

The visitor, it turned out, was Gus Sahstrom, of nearby Augusta, Michigan, known far and wide for his fried chicken.

"Thought you might like a bite to eat this night," Sahstrom told the guard, passing over the basket heaped with piping hot chicken, biscuits, and a pot of steaming coffee.

"Sure would," replied the guard. "Thanks."

Sahstrom picked up the basket next day, found it empty, and decided to make his visit a habit.

"Guess these boys like chicken as well as any folks," he said. "From now on the boys at No. 4 will get a chicken dinner every Wednesday night. Guess that'll be my part for national defense."

Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—Governor James has signed nine pardons and unlocked the prison gates for 23 convicted persons whose appeals were heard by the Board of Pardons last month.

The Governor acted on the recommendation of the board. The 23 received commutation of sentence, making them eligible for parole.

Eleven cases held under advisement by the board from November and December hearings were continued for further consideration February 19. Among them are the applications of James and Alfred Bruno, serving second degree murder sentences for a part in the Kelyares election eve massacre of 1934, in Schuylkill county.

21ST VESSEL IS TORPEDOED OFF ATLANTIC COAST

Lewes, Del., Feb. 9 (AP)—Survivors of the American tanker China Arrow expressed belief today their ship was sunk by the same Axis submarine which destroyed two other American vessels off the Atlantic coast within the preceding 36 hours.

The Socoyo-Vacuum Oil company's 8,403-ton China Arrow—21st victim of the undersea wolf pack—was torpedoed, shelled and set afire 100 miles off the coast Thursday morning, the Navy department announced. Her entire crew of 37 was saved by the Coast Guard after spending 56 hours in three open boats.

The China Arrow's sister ship, India Arrow, was sunk Wednesday night and the freighter San Gil went down at midnight Tuesday—both in waters not far from the scene of the latest sinking.

All three attacks, the raider refrained from shelling the sinking ships until their crews had left in lifeboats.

Captain Paul H. Browne, 46, New York city, said two torpedoes from the surfaced submarine struck the China Arrow within a few seconds, setting her afire and destroying the radio transmitter.

He and Kenneth W. Maynard, 20, radio operator from Bellingham, Washington, remained aboard 45 minutes attempting to send SOS signals over a make-shift transmitter.

Maynard, who was typing when the first torpedo struck, said "flames shot up all over the middle of the ship."

Capt. Browne said the sea was dead calm when the lifeboats pulled away. The submarine then fired between "15 and 20 shells" from a range of 500 feet.

"They could easily have shelled or machine-gunned us," the captain said, "but they seemed to have a pretty decent skipper."

"I'll give the commander credit for that. They did not touch the men in the lifeboats. They did not talk to us. They just hung around until we were clear and then they began shelling."

Prison Paper Editor "Out" On Assignment

Ontario, Calif., Feb. 9 (AP)—Rufus Laybourne, 38, of Los Angeles, editor of the convict's newspaper at California's honor prison at Chino, checked out Thursday night to cover an assignment.

Supt. Kenyon J. Scudder asked California officers to pick up Laybourne. No story should require that much time, he said.

UNDERTAKER WINS

New Castle, Pa., Feb. 9 (AP)—Judge W. Walter Braham ruled that Wyatt R. Campbell, an undertaker and lot-owner in the cemetery of the Neshannock Presbyterian church, has the right to use his own equipment at burials. Campbell claimed officials of the cemetery insisted that its equipment be used.

Repay in six monthly instalments of $18.15 each, a total of $108.90—No endorsers or guarantors required

NEED EXTRA CASH? If you have a job, you can get a Household Finance loan at very reasonable cost. Suppose you borrow $25 and repay in four monthly instalments of $6.65 each, a total of $26.60. The cost of your loan is only $1.60. Or take a $50 loan repaid in four monthly instalments of $13.29 each, totaling $53.16. You pay just $3.16 for your loan. A $100 loan, repaid in six monthly instalments of $18.15 each costs only $8.90.

You may apply for any loan shown in the table. And you may choose the payment plan which best fits your own income. And you needn't even come to this office to apply for your loan. Just mail the coupon below and we will send you complete information.

All you do

All you do to apply for a Household loan is to tell us how much you need and how you wish to repay. You need no endorsers or guarantors—just the ability to repay in small monthly instalments. At no time do we question friends or relatives about your credit. You get your loan simply and privately. Household Finance loans are made in three ways. 1. On your personal note. No security required. Note loans are made, under proper conditions, to both single persons and married couples. 2. On your car. 3. On your furniture. When making car and furniture loans, we consider character and income far more important than the value of your security. Your loan will be made the way which best fits your own situation.

Why pay more?

Payments in the table include all charges. You pay nothing more. Household's charge is 2 1/2% per month on that part of a balance not exceeding $100 and 2% per month on that part of a balance in excess of $100. The Small Loan Law permits us to charge substantially more than this. We publish our rates and payments to help you shop for your loan. If you need money, send the coupon now. We are always ready to make helpful loans. Ask for the booklet without obligation.

NURSE CHARGED IN OPIUM DEATH OF CRYING BABY

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—"One of the finest nurses that ever walked the floor" of the Bronx Maternity hospital was charged today with the opium-drops slaying of a newborn baby girl whose crying upset her.

That description, augmented by the statement she was "an elegant nurse," was given yesterday by hospital superintendent Louise M. Wagner as Irma Twiss, 32, herself in tears, was formally accused of homicide in the death of the infant and also accused of feeding the narcotic to another.

"The babies' constant crying drove me crazy," Miss Twiss was quoted by Assistant District Attorney Martin Kraus as saying before being jailed without bail for a hearing Wednesday.

Kraus said the slim, brunette nurse had admitted she was held four days for observation in Bellevue hospital's psychopathic ward in November, 1940, after she had taken an overdose of sleeping tablets.

He added that she had returned to the Bronx institution three months ago after having received leave last summer to have a baby, which did not live.

Physicians held out some hope for the second baby today, although it was in dangerous condition.

Neither Mrs. Castro Valle, 33, mother of the dead child, nor Mrs. Fred Fantagone, 34, mother of the other baby—a four-day-old girl—were informed of their infants' fate. Valle became hysterical when told of the tragedy. It was his and Mrs. Valle's first child in 11 years. Their only other baby, also a girl, was born dead.

"Iron Division" At Camp Livingston

Camp Livingston, La., Feb. 9 (AP)—Pennsylvania's "Iron Division," the 28th, has taken up quarters at this southern base, the War department officially announced.

The division came here about a month ago from Indiantown Gap, Pa., which has been its permanent home for many years, but the move was not reported because of wartime conditions.

The 28th was a National Guard outfit until it was federalized more than a year ago and its personnel largely is made up of Pennsylvania residents.

The division's new commander, Brig. Gen. J. D. Ord assumed his duties after the transfer. He succeeded Maj. Gen. Edward Martin, who was assigned to Fifth Corps Area headquarters at Columbus, Ohio, for special duty.

Pittsburgh, Feb. 9 (AP)—Judge M. A. Musmanno of Allegheny county Common Pleas court has announced his candidacy for the state Supreme Court to succeed Justice William I. Schaffer, who retires at the end of the year.

Musmanno pledged he would continue his course of bringing "justice under law to everybody regardless of position, rank, creed or color."

Last November he was defeated for the state Superior Court by Judge Charles E. Kenworthy, Republican.

"But I received 1,269,850 votes and led the entire Democratic ticket," he said. "This I regard as an expression of confidence by the people in my qualifications."

Media, Pa., Feb. 9 (AP)—The Army's war-time silence Saturday surrounded the death of Private J. W. Officials said only that a bullet from his own rifle caused death.

Sentries To Get Chicken Dinner Free, Wednesdays

Fort Custer, Mich., Feb. 9 (AP)—Being a sentry at Fort Custer guard house No. 4 has its reward.

One cold night this week a soldier pacing his post was approached by a man burdened with a large basket. The visitor, it turned out, was Gus Sahlstrom, of nearby Augusta, Michigan, known far and wide for his fried chicken.

"Thought you might like a bite to eat this night," Sahlstrom told the guard, passing over the basket heaped with piping hot chicken, biscuits, and a pot of steaming coffee.

"Sure would," replied the guard. "Thanks."

Sahlstrom picked up the basket next day, found it empty, and decided to make his visit a habit.

"Guess these boys like chicken as well as any folks," he said. "From now on the boys at No. 4 will get a chicken dinner every Wednesday night. Guess that'll be my part for national defense."

21ST VESSEL IS TORPEDOED OFF ATLANTIC COAST

Lewes, Del., Feb. 9 (AP)—Survivors of the American tanker China Arrow expressed belief today their ship was sunk by the same Axis submarine which destroyed two other American vessels off the Atlantic coast within the preceding 36 hours.

The Socony-Vacuum Oil company's 8,403-ton China Arrow—21st victim of the underswift wolf pack—was torpedoed, shelled and set afire 100 miles off the coast Thursday morning, the Navy department announced. Her entire crew of 37 was saved by the Coast Guard after spending 56 hours in three open boats.

The China Arrow's sister ship, India Arrow, was sunk Wednesday night and the freighter San Gil went down at midnight Tuesday—both in waters not far from the scene of the latest sinking.

In all three attacks, the raider refrained from shelling the sinking ships until their crews had left in lifeboats.

Captain Paul H. Browne, 46, New York city, said two torpedoes from the surfaced submarine struck the China Arrow within a few seconds, setting her afire and destroying the radio transmitter.

He and Kenneth W. Maynard, 20, radio operator from Bellingham, Washington, remained aboard 45 minutes attempting to send SOS signals over a make-shift transmitter.

Maynard, who was typing when the first torpedo struck, said "flames shot up all over the middle of the ship."

Capt. Browne said the sea was dead calm when the lifeboats pulled away. The submarine then fired between "15 and 20 shells" from a range of 500 feet.

"They could easily have shelled or machine-gunned us," the captain said, "but they seemed to have a pretty decent skipper."

"I'll give the commander credit for that. They did not touch the men in the lifeboats. They did not talk to us. They just hung around until we were clear and then they began shelling."

Prison Paper Editor "Out" On Assignment

Ontario, Calif., Feb. 9 (AP)—Ruleff Laybourne, 38, of Los Angeles, editor of the convict newspaper at California's honor prison at Chino, checked out Thursday night to cover an assignment.

Supt. Kenyon J. Scudder asked California officers to pick up Laybourne. No story should require that much time, he said.

UNDERTAKER WINS

New Casle, Pa., Feb. 9 (AP)—Judge W. Walter Braham ruled that Wyatt R. Campbell, an undertaker and lot-owner in the cemetery of the Neshannock Presbyterian church, has the right to use his own equipment at burials. Campbell claimed officials of the cemetery insisted that its equipment be used.

U.S. Unit Reaches New Zealand After Reinforcing "Way Stations"

Boston, Feb. 10 (AP)—The arrival at Wellington, New Zealand, of the vanguard of a United States Naval force was reported today to the Christian Science Monitor by its correspondent, Joseph C. Harsch, who described also the landing of American reinforcements at "way stations" along the route from Pearl Harbor.

In a copyrighted story, Harsch told of his landing at Wellington from a destroyer, described as the first unit of Admiral Herbert F. Leary's American forces. He said the landfall was reached even before the public announcement of Admiral Leary's appointment to command all allied forces in the Anzac area.

The Monitor's correspondent said he traveled part of the way from Pearl Harbor with the forces that attacked the Japanese mandated Gilbert and Marshall islands. Then he changed to another unit by breeches buoy in mid-Pacific.

Thereafter, he said, he "spent many days among the tropic islands where ships well known to the luxury trade poured American reinforcements into way stations" along the 4,000 mile route from Hawaii to New Zealand. After describing the waving of hats and flags as the destroyer came into Wellington harbor at 23 knots, Harsch added:

"Behind the color of this little act in a great drama lay a symbol of an important American victory. The battle of the supply line from America's factories to the far Pacific battle front has been won. Japan has suffered its first serious reverse. An American admiral commands the terminus of the supply route. The way stations have been secured. Bluejackets are here. And the way is open for reinforcements and the vital weapons of war."

J. Alfred Holtzworth Is Treasurer's Aide

J. Alfred Holtzworth, 131 North Washington street, who was Burgess of Gettysburg from 1910 to 1914, has taken up his duties as deputy treasurer of Adams county under John W. Brehm who took office January 5. Mr. Holtzworth's appointment was made as of February 2.

Ray J. Kitzmiller, whose term as county treasurer ended the first of the year, has been retained there to instruct the new officials in office routine.

LIST PLACES TO REGISTER

Members of Draft Board No. 2 with headquarters at the First National bank building, announced complete plans today for registering next Monday in Gettysburg and the western half of the county all men between the ages of 20 and 44, both inclusive. Men registered in previous registrations are not to be listed.

The volunteer registrars who will aid the draft board in the registration have been asked to meet at draft board headquarters in the bank building on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock to get instructions and supplies and to take their oaths of office. The persons to help with the registration were selected because their training fits them particularly well for this service, a board spokesman stated.

Men may register at the draft board headquarters here, at the Biglerville fire house, at the First National bank in Fairfield and at Gettysburg college from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m.

Dr. R. D. Wickerham, secretary of the local draft board, comes within the age span of this registration and will be listed along with others in this district. An announcement from state Selective Service headquarters at Harrisburg today stated that boards may register their own members but may not classify them.

These court house deputies will aid in registration work at the draft board office in the bank building; Miss E. E. Eicholtz, deputy prothonotary; Miss Anna E. Gilbert, deputy clerk of the courts; Miss Viola M. Sachs, deputy register and recorder; Lawrence E. Myers, deputy clerk to the county commissioners, and Miss

PEACE MOVE?

London, Feb. 10 (AP)—An international cartel of French and German industrialists was reliably reported today to have started organizing a new campaign for a negotiated peace between Germany and the United Nations on business grounds.

These international industrialists, a qualified source said, argued that Japanese conquests in the Pacific with acquisition already of territories rich in natural resources and raw materials have put Japan in a position to seize and dominate world markets if the western powers persist in fighting the war to an end. The industrialists were reported pointing a campaign particularly toward the United States with emphasis on the dangers of adding access to raw material to Japan's cheap labor supply.

Normandie Starts To List

With fireboats and firemen aboard her pouring water the former French passenger liner Normandie started to list slightly late Monday at her Hudson river dock. She rolled over on her port side early today. Huge billows of smoke pour from the vessel, recently renamed the Lafayette and made a naval auxiliary craft. (Story on page three.)

SOCIETY CARED FOR 59 CRIPPLES DURING 1941

Seven cases of infantile paralysis were among the 59 cases under the care of the Adams County Crippled Children's society during 1941, according to an annual report just compiled by society officers.

State nurses made 375 home visits for the society during last year, while 48 countians attended diagnostic clinics through arrangements made by the society. Twelve others went to "check-up" clinics while eight were admitted to the hospital for crippled children at Elizabethtown. Six were discharged during the year and two remain as patients.

10 New Cases Added
On January 1, 1941, the society had 49 active cases under its care. Ten new cases were added during the year and seven were closed.

The board of directors of the society met monthly to transact business with an average attendance of eight members in the board of about 30 representing all parts of the county. Last November the

Draft Deferment Proposed For Essential Farm Labor

Washington, Feb. 10 (AP)—Adoption of a national policy for the deferment of military service for essential farm labor was proposed today by Senators Norris (Ind.-Nebr.) and Nye (R.-ND), who said a growing shortage of agricultural workers threatened to curtail the nation's food supply.

Norris suggested that the Selective Service system adopt general rules which would exempt local draft boards to defer men whose services were necessary to maintain farm output. He said the lack of a fixed policy of this nature had resulted in the induction into the Army of many men whose contribution to the war effort would have been much greater if they had remained on the farm.

Nye said he had called this problem to the attention of Brig Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of Selective Service.

Local boards now are operating under a general memorandum sent to state directors on December 4, four days before war was declared.

SCHOOL BOARD OFFERS AID FOR REGISTRATION

Gettysburg school directors at their monthly meeting Monday evening voted to "act in full cooperation with the local Draft Board" next Monday, a special registration day. The directors decided that they will close "whatever schools and for whatever hours are necessary" to give the Selective Service officials all the teachers they need to assist with the registration.

The board received and accepted the resignations of Miss Jean Shoop, center square, as secretary to Superintendent L. C. Keefe and of Miss Thelma Bream, Cashtown, as secretary to G. W. Lefever, high school principal. Both resignations are effective on Friday. Miss Shoop stated in her letter of resignation that she has accepted a position at Washington.

Miss Bream said today that she expects to clerk in her mother's store at Cashtown.

Gives Cafeteria Report
Miss Ruth Kitzmiller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Kitzmiller, West Middle street, was elected in Miss Shoop's place at $50 per month, the salary Miss Shoop was paid since taking that position last August 1. Miss Bream had worked in the principal's office for nearly four years. Her post was not filled.

Superintendent L. C. Keefe reported on the operation of the high school cafeteria indicating it is operating "close to cost" but is paying its own way. The average daily profit at the cafeteria since school opened last fall is 28 cents, the statement showed. January costs in the cafeteria were $314.33, leaving a profit of $18.60 for that month.

The board took formal action Monday evening on the granting of a leave of absence to Robert C. Diehl, commercial teacher at the high school who was inducted into Moscow, Feb. 10 (AP)—The Red Army, having cleared three provinces in the Moscow area of invaders, pushed on today in the face of stubborn Nazi resistance and the Germans' own version of the scorched-earth policy—applying the torch to each village and settlement which they are forced to surrender.

With the Nazis already completely driven out of Moscow province and Tula and Ryazan provinces to the south, Russian divisions were reported to have freed a large portion of the Kalinin region northwest of the capital, and to be continuing their advance against withdrawing German columns around Leningrad, east of Smolensk and in the Ukraine.

Invaders' Losses Heavy In Fight For British Stronghold

[By The Associated Press]

Overwhelming masses of Japanese troops swarmed onto Singapore island today, forcing British defenders to execute a new withdrawal in what appeared to be the dying hours of the struggle for Britain's last great stronghold in the far Pacific. Tokyo dispatches broadcast by the Italian radio said Japanese assault forces had driven within five miles of the downtown heart of Singapore city.

British Exact Terrific Toll

British headquarters acknowledged at 10 p. m. last night (11 a. m., E.W.T. Monday) that fighting raged only 10 miles away.

A Berlin broadcast said the Japanese commander, Lieut. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, sent a message this morning to the British Commander-in-Chief, Lieut. Gen. A. E. Percival, demanding the surrender of Singapore.

Bloody fighting still continued, however, with the hard-pressed Australian, British and Indian Imperials exacting a terrific toll on the invaders.

Domei, official Japanese news agency, said in front-line dispatches that Japanese engineers had repaired the 3,000-foot Johore strait causeway, which the British had breached and that Japanese troops and supplies were pouring over the span.

What Fall Would Mean

There was no disguising the magnitude of the disaster Singapore's fall would inflict on the united nations. It would:

1. Gravely endanger all allied bases between the Suez canal, Egypt, and Pearl Harbor, Honolulu.
2. Free Japan's powerful Malayan armies for attacks on Java, Burma and even Australia.
3. Deal a blow to united nations manpower in the southwest Pacific, unless the more than 60,000 British troops now locked in battle on Singapore island could be evacuated—an almost impossible feat.
4. Give Japan a free passage to the Indian ocean and the Bay of Bengal.

Radio Station Silent

London, Feb. 10 (AP)—The situation at Singapore is so grave that it is possible that Japanese have infiltrated into the city itself and attacked the radio station there, an informed British source said today.

Reuters, which has kept constantly tuned to the Singapore station, said it went off the air at 12:30 London Time (7:30 a. m., E. W. T.).

Meanwhile from Singapore itself came dramatic reports on the crucial struggle. Singapore's governor, Sir Shenton Thomas, told the Straits Settlements legislative council:

"We are all in the hands of God from whom we can get comfort in our anxieties and strength to play the man and help one another in all the ordeals which are to come."

Fires Brighten Skies
Civilians concentrated in the city area in the southern tip of the imperiled island did not need the governor's words to bring home to them the fact that they were near the front.

Throughout last night and early today artillery rumbled from the west. The northern sky was bright with the glow of oil tanks, burning for several days.

The noise of battle intensified after dawn. The drone of Japanese dive bombers and the sharper cracks of British anti-aircraft guns could be heard from the sector where the gallant British, Australian and Indian troops were fighting grimly to stem the Japanese advance.

Japanese Reinforced
The Japanese were reinforced during the night.

More than once this morning residents heard the whine of machinegun bullets as enemy planes flew low over the outskirts of the city.

The fire glow of last night became a morning pall of gray smoke which hung low over the northern part of the hot island. Above the gray blanket of haze, darker smoke billowed upwards forming a great black pillar which dominated the scene of battle.

Defenders Exact Heavy Toll
The British said that there had been some further withdrawal of our forces despite stubborn resistance.

But the defenders were exacting a fearful toll of blood and men for every precious inch of the island while intrepid Hurricane fighter pilots, facing odds which a spokesman said were at least twice as great as those encountered at the

AMERICANS GET 7 JAP PLANES

Washington, Feb. 10 (AP)—American forces in the Philippines shot down seven Japanese planes in the last 24 hours, the War department said today, but are battling increasingly heavy odds on the ground. The Army transport Royal T. Frank, 224 net tons, was reported sunk by a torpedo in Hawaiian waters Jan. 28, with 29 persons reported lost. Thirty-three survivors reached an Hawaiian port.

In the Netherlands Indies, the department reported in its communique, a small formation of American fighter planes shot down one enemy plane in a minor action with a flight of Japanese bombers.

The text of the communique, No. 99 of the war, based on reports received here up to 12 noon, Eastern War Time:

"1. Philippine theater: "In a message to the War department, General MacArthur emphasized the grim determination of his American-Filipino troops. The identifications of five veteran Japanese divisions on Bataan peninsula, in addition to many other supporting troops and the reported landing of reinforcements in the Lingayen gulf areas, indicate the heavy odds against them.

"Fighting in Bataan during the past twenty-four hours was intermittent but of a particularly savage nature. The enemy suffered heavy casualties.

"During the past twenty-four hours our troops shot down seven enemy planes. This brings the total hostile aircraft positively confirmed as destroyed in the Philippines since the outbreak of the war to 163. Many others were hit and probably destroyed, but their loss has not been definitely confirmed.

Government Wins By 3 Votes In England

London, Feb. 10 (AP)—The govern-ment escaped a defeat in the house of lords this afternoon by a margin of only three votes.

An adverse vote in the upper house would not cause the govern-ment to fall, as would a defeat in commons.

Baron Gainford, a privy councilor, moved that the lords disapprove any increase in the hours of em-ployment of young persons under 16 as contemplated under a general emergency order of December 23, 1941.

His motion failed by 20 to 17 after Baron Wolmer said the mo-tion would be a "censure on the ministry of labor and the national service and trade unions which had agreed to the order."

Singapore Fight Described By Sergeant

(Editor's note: Sergeant Ian Fitchitt, official Australian re-porter who covered the retreat of the A.I.F. in Malaya, gives an eyewitness account of the strength of the Japanese in-vasion forces in Singapore and the weight of artillery the in-vaders could concentrate to cover the assault.)

By IAN FITCHITT

Singapore, Feb. 9 (Delayed) (Aus-tralian Associated Press to AP) — The military position on Singapore island by late afternoon could be described only as serious.

Enemy landings followed the smashing barrage which grew to a crescendo from 10 p. m. yesterday following an afternoon of destruc-tive shelling and mortar fire.

Shortly after dark last night some of our searchlights were knocked out. They were our only means of observation until the moon-rise at 1 a. m.

Our strongest-held positions on the coast running west from the Kranji estuary were left completely un-molested but on either flank the fire was poured in, making the ap-proach of troops holding those areas difficult.

Towards 11 p. m. the enemy start-ed getting ashore.

No sooner were the first Japanese landings engaged than the enemy started to pour in in "hordes"—as a battalion commander put it today.

Our artillery and machinegunners were sweeping the straits with fire all this time and also concentrating on the beach opposite, but the enemy seemed to be in strength. Meanwhile, his gunfire was crashing into our positions.

It was a solid drumfire which went on for some hours without cease.

The colonel of a west Australian machine gun battalion told me he thought that the enemy was using steel troop landing craft. He had report after report from his gun-ners that they saw their bullets striking flashes of flame as they hit the steel sides of the boats.

These landings soon had our for-ward troops in trouble and they had to fall back to a level line. In the desperate early morning fight-ing, party after party found their way cut off and there were a hun-dred small struggles of the moment. Infantry, gunners and anti-tank men joining together to get them-selves and their gear out.

Reinforcements were of Indians as all further Australians were rushed to the area.

Dawn gave light for enemy bomb-ers again. They have been at it all day. The longest period from dawn to 4 p. m. that they did not have some planes bombing was 31 min-utes.

Our fighters made a gallant effort to aid the troops but it was the old story.

So it has gone on all day with very little definite information com-ing in beyond confused tales of des-perate fighting.

Beyond artillery fire, we can do little to prevent their flow of boats to the mainland.

The troops have done their best all day.

But it is the old case of huge numbers crushing thinly held lines.

The United States Army last week.

In response to an inquiry from the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce about the availability of the high school auditorium for three-day ses-sions of the state convention of the P. O. S. of A. here next summer, the board set a rate of $20 per day, the same price established for other organizations seeking the auditorium under similar circumstances.

Fixes Play-Off Charge

The board fixed at $25 the charge to be made for use of the high school gymnasium for a play-off, post-season basketball game between Arendtsville high school and a Franklin county league winner. The figure is the same charged several years ago for another play-off tilt.

The monthly report of the school treasurer, the Gettysburg National bank, showed a balance of $26,779 in the general fund at the end of last month. Receipts last month in-cluded $2,490 in non-resident tuition and $779 in taxes. Salaries totaling $6,801 formed the biggest item in the total expenditures of $8,568.

President A. E. Hutchison presided at the meeting with Secretary M. P. Hartzell and these other directors in attendance: Charles M. Shelly, Ralph Z. Orler and Charles Bender, Superintendent Keefeaver attended the meeting.

Cites War Effect On Insurance

The stability of life insurance, even in war times, was emphasized by A. F. Tripp, agency director of the Harrisburg branch of the New York Life Insurance company, in an address before the members of the Gettysburg Lions club at their weekly dinner meeting at Mrs. Smith's restaurant Monday evening.

While one of the first effects of war on the life insurance com-panies is a necessary reduction of dividends, the companies are pre-pared to "withstand almost any storm," he said. He pointed out that from 1914 to 1920 new life in-surance business increased annually. He discussed the status of the life insurance of men called into service and of civilians in war time and answered questions from club mem-bers.

He pointed out that under the Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief act the government finances soldiers' life insurance premiums up to $5,000 under certain conditions. He ad-vised soldiers to take the insur-ance offered them by the govern-ment.

The club voted $10 to the Gettysburg Y.W.C.A. now conducting its annual financial drive.

Vice President G. W. Lelever presided with about 30 members present. Walter Dunbar was a guest.

Maroons Entertain Shippensburg Tonight; Bullets Prime For F. And M.

DIPLOMATS TO MEET BULLET QUINTET HERE

One of the season's largest crowds is expected to be on hand Wednesday evening when the Franklin and Marshall basketball team invades the Gettysburg college gymnasium to battle "Hen" Bream's Bullets in an Eastern Pennsylvania collegiate league game.

The game represents a "must" for the orange and blue aggregation who must win to stay in the race for the league title.

So far this season F. and M. has been somewhat of a surprise. Last year's championship team was almost completely wrecked by graduation but Coach Shober Barr has come up with a team that swept to four straight loop decisions before losing to Muhlenberg at Allentown Saturday evening.

Against Albright Saturday evening the Bullets failed to click both offensively and defensively. Potentially the team is one of the best in the league but, with few exceptions, has failed to show the form expected. Coach Bream sent his squad through stiff drills Monday and today in hopes of having the team in top notch shape for the Diplomats.

The Greyhounds, leaders of the senior league in the community circuit at York, will meet the Bullet freshmen in the preliminary game, originally the F. and M. frosh were to have been played here.

C. E. Bilheimer, athletic director, has announced that there will be no reserved seats sold for the game.

VIGILANCE IN DOG LAW CASES BOOSTS INCOME

Harrisburg, Feb. 10 (AP)—More vigilance in enforcement of Pennsylvania dog laws was credited by state agriculture secretary, John H. Light, today with boosting issuance of licenses and revenues from this source to an all-time high.

The state last year issued licenses to 602,340 dogs, fees of $745,785 being the peak since enactment of the control law in 1921. Fines for violations amounted to $19,469.

Claims paid by the Commonwealth for damages done by dogs totaled $23,585 while enforcement officers collected $1 for each of 26,425 canines killed. Damages recovered from dog owners after payments by the state brought in $5,900.

Dogs Examined
Allegheny county led in issuance of licenses with 29,399 while Cameron county's 563 was the lowest. Topping the 1,466 claims for the year were 740 for sheep and 601 for poultry losses.

In addition to licensing and handling of damage claims, the Agriculture department laboratory conducted examinations showing that 104 dogs had been afflicted with rabies. No trace of the disease was found in 188 others examined.

Total revenue of the animal industry which administers the dog law jumped from $2,162,502 for the 1936-37 period to $2,278,268 for the past three years. Licenses jumped 2,500 and claims decreased from 5,576 to 4,339 with the amount paid from $80,278 to $65,907 in the same period.

License fees of $1 for males and $2 for females are fixed by the Legislature and go into the commonwealth general fund without being earmarked for any certain purpose. There has been no change in the fees and Agriculture department authorities see no need for any at this time.

Protective Measure
"Dog laws in this state must be looked upon as a protective measure as well as providing a source of revenue," declared Secretary Light. "Protection afforded, however, depends largely upon the efficiency of enforcement."

Light issued a warning to dog owners who have not yet procured the 1942 licenses for their dogs. The 1941 license expired January 15. New licenses are obtainable at the offices of the county treasurers, or application may be made through any justice of the peace, alderman, magistrate or notary public in the district in which the dog owner resides. All dogs six months of age or older must be licensed.

Under the law the license tag must be attached to a collar which must be worn at all times by the dog and the tags are not transferable from one animal to another. Light also pointed out that the tag does not absolve the owner from liability in the event the dog causes damage to property and it is therefore necessary that all animals be kept under control.

Holders of motor vehicle driver's licenses in Guatemala are required to undergo a medical examination every five years, the Department of Commerce reports.

JAP WEAPONS ARE INSPECTED BY AMERICANS

By CLARK LEE

With Gen. MacArthur on the Bataan Peninsula, Feb. 7—(Delayed)—(AP)—Sightseeing on Bataan peninsula, where the main music is the whine of artillery shells and the screams of dive bombers: Major Johnny Pugh shows an arsenal of captured Japanese weapons starting with a tiny hand-fitting 30 caliber revolver. It is English made.

A rifle fires 25.6 caliber bullets and is about eight inches longer than the American Springfield. A sub-machine gun, modeled after the Bren, fires 22 caliber bullets. A light machinegun with bipod handles, 25.6 caliber ammunition and a heavy machinegun fires 52 caliber shots.

A service pistol of the Luger type carries 32 caliber bullets. The guns, when tested, were found to be effective but not so well made as American arms. A prize piece on exhibit was a mortar with a stand which fits the user's thigh. It throws a projectile up to 650 yards and is also able to handle hand grenades.

There is no twilight here. Fifteen minutes after the sun sinks in to the China sea, it is pitch dark.

Maj. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright hits a bamboo table and a constant stream of orderlies, messengers and aides give him data and get their orders. Wainwright is a cavalry officer who commanded the northern Luzon forces during their withdrawal to Bataan peninsula from Lingayen bay. Associates say he handled the divisions like so many troops of cavalry.

The general has just received the Distinguished Service Cross for repeated acts of bravery in dangerous positions. He personally has been at the firing line many times, setting an example by his coolness and competence.

He won't discuss that but he will talk about the Filipino troops. "These Filipino boys are toughening into real soldiers," he said. "With 40,000 trained troops—either Filipinos or Americans—we'd chase the Japanese right into the China sea."

He said that the Japanese were good soldiers, but that their effectiveness often was lowered by unnecessary expenditure of life in fanatical sacrifices.

Shippensburg High Plays Here Tonight

Tonight the Gettysburg high courtmen will attempt to swing back into the win column when Shippensburg high is met here in a Southern Pennsylvania Interscholastic league game.

Having already handed the Greyhounds a setback at Shippensburg, the Maroons do not anticipate too much trouble in repeating the performance. Far from being disheartened after being knocked from the undefeated ranks by Chambersburg Saturday, the Porney-men are determined to battle their way back into the second half race. They clinched the first half title by sweeping seven straight games.

At 7 o'clock the reserve teams will play.

FRANKLIN TWP. NIPS FAIRFIELD

The Franklin Township basketball team won a pair of games Monday evening by defeating the Fairfield freshmen at Fairfield.

After being held to but two points in the first half when their rivals piled up a 16-2 lead, the boys' team rallied in the last half to win 18-17 through limiting Fairfield to a single tally in the second half.

A fourth period rally also brought victory to the girls' team who trailed 15-14 at half time.

U.S. To Seek Scrap In Auto "Graveyards"

Saturday's issue of "Daily Metal Reporter," a trade paper, quotes Lessing J. Rosenwald, chief of the War Production Board Bureau of Industrial Conservation, and Leon Henderson, administrator of the OPA, as stating that iron and steel and other metals now lying dormant in automobile graveyards throughout the country must be rapidly made available for the manufacture of war materials.

The iron and steel industry, according to the statement, has been urged to make "fair offers" to all graveyard owners for their material within 90 days. Such offers, it was pointed out, would be made by agents of mills. By scrap material dealers or their agents.

In cases where the "fair offers" are rejected, it was stated, government investigation will follow. Where individual situations warrant such action, requisitioning of entire yards, including parts, will follow immediately, the statement concluded.

Many requests have been received by the two government agencies, according to the trade paper, from dealers, brokers and mills for a price to be set on "jalopies" in graveyards. A price schedule under OPA's newly enacted statute sets price requirements and sets heavy penalties for violations.

Mr. Rosenwald has stated that those operators who also deal in used parts may retain a reasonable supply of parts to maintain their business.

Japanese guns to examine places where the causeway had been ruptured.

"Materials were fully assembled and repair of the causeway was immediately carried out as soon as Japanese landing parties had repelled the enemy from positions guarding the southern end of the causeway."

STATE COOL TO CONTROL PLAN FOR ATHLETICS

Harrisburg, Feb. 10 (AP)—The Department of Public Instruction, through Superintendent Francis B. Haas, appeared cool today to a proposal by Pennsylvania school directors that it take over direction of schoolboy athletics.

The directors' association, in convention here Friday and Saturday, asserted its request for three representatives on the board of control of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic association had been tabled and the directors suggested the alternative of "complete supervision" by the Department of Public Instruction.

Dr. Haas commented that if local school districts manage their own athletic affairs reasonably well they ought to be permitted to continue.

"And I think they've done a good job so far," he added.

The PIAA board of control is made up of district representatives of member schools, chosen from ranks of faculty members.

Dr. Haas said athletic supervision by his department would "require legislation to make it effective."

"The department has no authority to take such control without legislation," he said. "That type of authority is now vested in the local boards and as far as I know it's worked out pretty well."

The directors' resolution could be considered at the next board of control meeting in March.

"As far as the association (PIAA) is concerned it works under a constitution which provides makeup of the board," said Chairman R. B. Stapleton of Tamaqua.

"Before we could do anything it would be necessary to submit to member schools the question of amending the constitution. We will just have to consider at a future meeting whether to submit the matter to the members."

Stapleton said the PIAA last year offered the school directors the same representation on the board as the Department of Public Instruction which has an advisory member without voting power.

"They didn't see fit to accept that and the reply was tabled," Stapleton said.

Auto Rationing To Get Underway

Harrisburg, Feb. 10 (AP)—T. Elmer Transeau, state rationing administrator, said today that the first steps in automobile rationing would be taken from February 12 to 26, when claims of undelivered new car purchases during December would be received.

The administrator said persons claiming to have placed orders for cars before the first of January would be required to bring the dealer's proof to the local rationing boards.

General automobile rationing will begin after February 26. Complete eligibility rules have not yet been received, Transeau said, but they are expected to follow lines laid down for purchasers of tires and tubes.

The state administrator said he was awaiting a ruling from the office of price administrator on eligibility of clergymen in purchase of tires and tubes.

Biglerville and Gettysburg high schools will renew their long athletic rivalry this evening when their basketball teams meet at Gettysburg in the first of a two-game series.

Gettysburg, leader and probable champion of the Adams county league, is favored to win on the basis of its fine record of 10 wins as against but one defeat. The Biglerville outfit has been finding the going rough and have lost their last five straight games for a record of three wins and eight losses.

The girls' teams will play the preliminary affair and while Gettysburg is again conceded the edge Biglerville has excellent chances of turning the tide.

Two matches on foreign mats are listed this week for "Pete" Beeson's undefeated Gettysburg college wrestlers. Western Maryland will be met Wednesday at Westminster while on Saturday the Bullets will go to Haverford for an engagement.

Only one game is scheduled tonight in the Adams county league, Fairfield playing at Littlestown.

Many things could happen in the second half race of the Southern Pennsylvania scholastic league but its a pretty safe forecast that Gettysburg and Chambersburg will meet for the league title. The Maroons took the first half honors and there is doubt the Trojans will sweep through the second half undefeated.

C. E. Bilheimer, athletic director of Gettysburg college, announced today due to the large crowds expected at the coming basketball games Junior Bullets will not be admitted free until further notice.

Don Freeman, former William Penn high cage star, is expected to appear in the Gettysburg college frosh lineup Wednesday evening in the preliminary game to the varsity-F. and M. tilt. Freeman graduated at mid-year at William Penn and has enrolled here. He was the leading scorer in the first half race of the Central Pennsylvania Interscholastic basketball league and was heralded as one of the best all-around stars of the circuit.

FRATERNITY HOUSE FIRE

Bethlehem, Pa., Feb. 10 (AP)—The $60,000 Phi Gamma Delta fraternity house on the Lehigh university campus was destroyed by fire last night. Officials said about $20,000 worth of furnishings also were lost in the blaze. Thirty-three students were housed in the big dwelling, and many lost their belongings, including scholastic supplies and books. The Phi Gamma Delta house is about 100 yards away from the Chi Psi fraternity house which was damaged by fire last October 27.

NAVY HOPES TO SAVE BURNED FRENCH LINER

New York, Feb. 10 (AP)—Like a great wounded monster, somehow, majestically still, the fire-scared and water-logged former French liner Normandie succumbed to the surging tide today and toppled to ignominious rest in Hudson river mud.

Ravaged by flames, a gaping hole cut in her hull in a vain attempt to counteract pressure of the incoming tide, the $60,000,000 vessel rolled over at 2:45 a. m. (EWT) and now lies on her port side in 40 feet of water alongside her pier.

Touched off by sparks from a welder's torch, flames raged through the Naval craft for three and a half hours yesterday before they were brought under control by every available piece of land and sea fire fighting equipment in Manhattan.

220 Workmen Injured

Two hundred twenty of the 2,200 workmen and Naval personnel aboard suffered injuries, and one welder, Frank Trentacosta, 36, died last night in a hospital of a fractured skull received when he jumped from deck to pier.

It was ever so gently and with scarcely a noise that the 80,000-ton ship—now the U. S. Naval auxiliary Lafayette—dipped her fire-blackened superstructure to the water's surface in surrender.

Only the crunch of ice and a final belch of smoke and flame—quickly extinguished by fireboats—marked the settling of the sea giant while spotlights from fire equipment on shore and in the river played on her toppling bulk.

Hope that she could be salvaged even in her present position and condition was expressed by Rear Admiral Adolphus Andrews, commandant of the third Naval district, as he ordered the big ship abandoned three hours before it rolled over. At that time a 21-degree list had developed and the "clear ship" order was taken as a precaution against loss of life. The pier also was cleared.

"I don't believe the fire was caused by sabotage," Admiral Andrews said. "There was nothing to indicate it."

A big hole was cut in the ship's starboard side to allow water to be pumped into tanks amidship, he explained, in an attempt to offset a list to port by settling the ship more firmly on the bottom, but the pressure of the tide counteracted this emergency measure.

Today's Talk
By George Matthew Adams

GREAT WRITERS
Go into any great library and you are at once astounded by the number of volumes. I recently went through the library of Yale university—with its millions of books—the thoughts of men and women for ages past and present, concentrated in each. You almost feel the spirit of human beings alive in that library.

It is possible, however, for any of us to read but a few of these world books during the short space of a lifetime. I envy such a man as the late Sir W. Robertson Nicoll, who stated that he read about a thousand books a year! And he remarked that a man who had a library of 3,000 books would have a "fair" library! Well, I have that many, but I confess I have read through but a small number, comparatively. Yet I know each one by name when I meet it, and have gained something from them all.

Great writers, nevertheless, are not numerous. Interesting ones by the millions! The great ones stand out alone. They are the feeling writers, the ones who wrote from a sincere heart, with a message. In the words of John Ruskin: "The breath of them is inspiration" and he says "you can only learn to speak as these men spoke by becoming what these men were."

The expressed thoughts of such writers as Shakespeare, Montaigne, Emerson, Thoreau, Hudson, or R. B. Cunningham Graham were thoughts felt, of them a part, and sincere. And so they live, and will live so long as words are read or made into books.

The book that you want to return to again and again is very good evidence of its worth and permanency. Great writers, like Charles Lamb, for instance, in his immortal and beautiful essay "Dream Children," make us their eternal debtors.

Simplicity of style and sincerity are always the evidences of a great writer. Studied, oratorical eloquence of style too often dies in the mind before it can reach the heart, if it ever does.

Paul Valery, the able and distinguished French poet and philosopher, says: "To believe in human speech, spoken or written, is as indispensable to human beings as to trust the solidity of the soil." Mere style in writing melts away when compared to sincere and deeply felt expression.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "The Step Ahead."

Relief Head Sees "No Chance" Of Increased Grants Soon

JAMES EXCLUDES SUBJECT FROM SESSION CALL

Harrisburg, Feb. 10 (AP)—Howard L. Russell, State Relief Secretary, said today there was "no chance" of increased grants to Pennsylvania's unemployed needy "until the state's financial picture is clarified."

At the earliest, he asserted, that time would be around the first of next June.

His comment came soon after Governor James specifically excluded the subject from consideration of a special session of the General assembly. The Governor said "any emergency needs of this nature can be met without legislation," and added:

"No legislation for increased food and commodity allowances in relief grants will be submitted to the special session." His office said the statement also applied to rent allowances.

Decided: On Higher Grants
The State Board of Assistance decided recently that higher grants were necessary to meet rising costs of living and Russell said he explained the situation to James yesterday.

"Russell explained the Assistance Board is definitely responsible for fixing assistance standards but added:

"The Governor has to furnish the money, though, so we all have to work together on something like this."

"The general idea," the secretary commented, "is that if we use all our money now we may not be able to meet a much more serious situation some time in the future."

The Governor said Pennsylvania spent more on its relief clients than about 40 other states. He also asserted that food prices were only slightly above the levels of 1937 and added:

"The existing relief grants met the situation in 1937 even without certain of the present food and commodity allowances and the increased allowance for milk, all of which have been added to the grants since then."

Russell said he would explain James' attitude to the state board next Friday.

Would Need Legislative Approval
James has said he would announce this week the date of a special session, primarily to reduce the commonwealth's delegation in Congress from 34 to 33. Only subjects included in the call may be considered but James has authority to insert additional items until the session actually convenes.

Legislative action would be unnecessary as far as increasing the allowances, he said, but the lawmakers would have to provide additional money if it was needed.

The 1941 General Assembly set aside $120,000,000 for relief during the biennium ending May 31, 1943, including $15,000,000 expected to be realized from increased state revenues.

A sub-committee of the Legislature's State Government Commission recommended that the special session raise the contingent appropriation from $15,000,000 to $25,000,000. Thus $10,000,000 could be distributed to meet higher living costs, it said.

Sisters Vie For 'Oscars'

Hollywood, Feb. 10 (AP)—It will be sister against sister in the balloting for the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences "Oscars."

Olivia De Havilland and her sister Jean Fontaine both have been placed in nomination by a committee of the academy. Miss De Havilland for her work in "Hold Back the Dawn" and Jean, who dropped the family name of De Havilland for movie identification, because of her outstanding performance in "Suspicion."

Competitor with them will be Bette Davis, twice an academy winner, for "The Little Foxes" and Barbara Stanwyck for "The Ball of Fire" and Greer Garson for "Bliss in the Dust."

Orson Welles scored a triple with the nominating committee, which chose him as one of the five candidates for acting honors, picked his movie as one of the 10 best, and named him as a candidate for the best director of the year—all because of "Citizen Kane."

None of the actors named this year has ever won an academy award. Besides Welles they are Greer Garson, in "Bliss in the Dust," Jean Fontaine, in "Hold Back the Dawn," Olivia De Havilland, in "The Little Foxes," Barbara Stanwyck, in "The Ball of Fire," and Greer Garson, in "Bliss in the Dust."

Other nominations for direction include Alexander Hall for "Here Comes Mr. Jordan," John Ford for

Your Income Tax

YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX
No. 34
DEDUCTION FOR TAXES

In general, taxes are deductible only by the person upon whom they are imposed.

Taxes on real estate and personal property paid during the year 1941 are deductible. So-called taxes which are assessed against local benefits such as streets, sidewalks, drainage, and other like improvements, are not deductible but are to be capitalized, as they tend to increase the value of the property and thus constitute cost of a permanent improvement. The Federal income tax may not be deducted. Income tax, however, paid to the state by an individual on his income is an allowable deduction in his Federal income tax return.

Customs duties paid by a person on articles imported for his own use are deductible. Import or tariff duties paid to customs officers; and business, license, privilege, excise, and stamp taxes paid to internal revenue collectors are deductible as taxes, provided they are not added to and made a part of the expenses of the business or the cost of the articles of merchandise with respect to which they are paid, in which case they cannot be deducted separately as a tax. The purchaser may not deduct the Federal tax of 10 per cent on the retail sale of jewelry, furs, and toilet preparations. The Federal tax of 1 cent for each 10 cents or fraction thereof paid for admission to any place is deductible, provided an account has been kept by the taxpayer of the amount paid. Taxes on club dues are deductible by the member paying them. An individual may deduct the tax on his telephone conversations, radio messages, telegrams, and cables and on the rent of his safe-deposit box.

Unemployment compensation contributions required under a state law, if officially classified as taxes, are deductible as taxes and not as business expenses.

The excise taxes imposed upon employers by the Social Security Act, as amended, are deductible, but the tax imposed on employees by that Act is not deductible. If an employer pays such tax for the employee, the amount may be deducted by the employer as a business expense, and the employee is required to report as additional income in their Federal income tax returns the amounts of the tax so paid for them.

License fees exacted by a state or city upon certain businesses are deductible as taxes. Automobile license fees are ordinarily taxes and deductible. Postage is not a tax and is not deductible.

Federal estate and gift taxes and state inheritance, estate legacy, or succession taxes are not deductible. The Federal taxes on automobiles, gasoline, cigarettes, and liquor are imposed upon the manufacturer, producer, or importer, and are not deductible by the purchaser or consumer. Whether or not the gasoline tax, the use tax, or the sales tax levied by a state may be deducted by the individual purchaser depends upon the terms of the state law imposing the tax; consequently, the right to the deduction, as between purchaser and seller, varies in the different states.

SEEK NEW SITE FOR FARM SHOW

Harrisburg, Feb. 10 (AP)—Pennsylvania's annual farm show won't be held in its $3,000,000 plant next year—the space is needed for training air mechanics.

Five acres of the 14-acre plant were turned over to the vocational division and officials said it would be in operation as a training school by March 1. Equipment will be moved in within a few days.

John H. Licht, secretary of agriculture, said he hoped a suitable site for the 1943 farm show could be found "in the near future." Approximately 450,000 persons visited the 26th exposition in the spacious arena and show buildings last month.

Military requirements in times of war are of first necessity and this was naturally the consideration of the farm show commission in making available the farm show building for military purposes," Licht said.

It is, however, the determination of the commission that there shall be no lapse or break in the outstanding history of the great Pennsylvania farm show which has not only become world-famous, but which over the 26 years of its existence, become an invaluable agricultural, educational and stimulating institution for the Pennsylvania farmer.

CRIPPS CALLS SPRING DRIVE MOST CRITICAL

Bristol, Eng., Feb. 10 (AP)—The defeat of Germany within one year's time is possible, but it depends on American and British help for the Soviet Union, in the opinion of Sir Stafford Cripps, who saw Russia at first hand as Britain's wartime ambassador.

In two addresses recently, Cripps stressed the urgency for Britain to increase her war production and cast off a complacency he said he had noticed since his return from Russia a few weeks ago.

"There now stands between Hitler and certain and not too delayed defeat," Cripps said in a broadcast, "The chance that he may be strong enough to renew his offensive."

If he does strike, the former ambassador predicted, it will be a blow for the Caucasus' oil in April, "a new and terrific blitz planned with the meticulous care of the German," and "the most critical stage of the whole war."

Both through the broadcast and an address here ran the theme of contrast between Russian sacrifices, in which nothing is spared from the war effort, and the skeptical attitude of some Britons toward the U.S.S.R.

"There is every chance of Germany being defeated by this time next year," Cripps declared, but he warned that neither Britain nor the United States could afford to fail in helping Russia prepare for a Nazi spring campaign.

Of Britons still dominated by the "old fear complex" toward Russia, he said, they "must not be allowed to influence our relations with Russia in a negative direction... either we have a partnership with Russia in the reconstruction of Europe or we plunge the world again into chaos."

Cripps urged an immediate, clear statement of the united nations' aims.

On The Home Front: MacArthur Gets Tax Refund Of $629.66

Washington, Feb. 10 (AP)—Having tax troubles?

Here's consolation—the government had them, too, during the fiscal year of 1941.

And those particular woes provided cheery news to thousands who dug too deep in paying past levies, and, as a result of over-assessments were refunded a total of $54,006,883.

If general MacArthur is not too preoccupied with other matters, his name appeared for a modest sized refund.

In a bulky document turned over today for law-required inspection by Congress, the Internal Revenue Bureau listed the names of those who paid more than their share and the amounts of their refunds.

Deep in the list was the name of Douglas MacArthur, now holding Bataan peninsula against the Japanese invaders of the Philippines. The bureau reported it had sent the general his check of $629.66, as executor for the estate of Mary P. MacArthur, his mother.

The largest individual refund—two checks totalling $253,957—went to George P. Jones, Chicago industrialist, while Arthur Curtis James, New York railroad executive, was second with $185,000, and Aldus C. Higgins, Massachusetts industrialist, third with $148,135.32.

COFFEE RATION CUT BY SWEDISH BOARD

Stockholm (AP)—In an effort to conserve Sweden's limited supply of coffee, the Food Commission has cut the ration to 250 grammes (a little more than eight and a half ounces) for adults for the next three months. In addition, no coffee will be issued to householders or to restaurants during the spring and summer months, in order that a limited ration may be available for the ensuing fall and winter months.

MAYBE IT'S SOMETHING YOU DIDN'T EAT!

YES, it's true that many disorders may result from not eating. And the "well-fed" are often sufferers. In periods of stress and strain, we may require more vitamins than the average diet will supply. In such cases, Physicians make up this vitamin deficiency by prescribing vitamins in concentrated form. Vitamins should not be taken promiscuously. Consult your Physician. His diagnosis will determine the vitamins you need. And, when you have his prescription, bring it here to be filled with those ever dependable Abbott Vitamin Products.

Flashes Of Life

AMBITION
Huntington, W. Va.—Two brothers, one 12, the other 13, made earnest application to join the Army "as water boys." Their reason: They wanted to aid five brothers already in the armed forces. Recruiting Sergeant J. J. Francis told them gently they'd have to wait a while.

LAND LOCKED ADMIRAL

NEXT CASE

Los Angeles—Pauline Evans Guillen has her divorce. She told the judge her husband, Ernesto A. Guillen, snored so loud she had to close the bedroom windows to keep the neighbors from complaining.

HAVE A LOOK, BROTHER

Dallas, Tex.—"Where in the world is our Pacific fleet?" fumed a war-minded straphanger on a crowded bus. Ray Lokey, Navy chief petty officer, had an answer. He handed the man an enlistment application blank and suggested: "Join the Navy and find out!"

Merit System Debate Remains Stalemate

Washington, Feb. 10 (AP)—The squabble between Pennsylvania and the Federal Social Security board over regulations for a merit system was stalemated again today with the Federal group apparently standing pat on an ultimatum to withhold payroll payments for state employees unless the state complied with its terms.

The major one of these would provide for an advisory appeal board which could hear the complaint of any employee threatened with dismissal. The state law now gives Governor Arthur H. James the unequivocal right to fire personnel in the State bureau. It was understood that the advisory board's recommendations would not be binding.

The ultimatum was delivered by Board Chairman Arthur Altmeyer yesterday, ending a hearing called by the board to determine whether it should continue to provide further funds to Pennsylvania to administer the state jobless compensation law.

Federal contributions of between $250,000 to $300,000 a month now are the foundation for the pay of more than 1,500 state employees. Benefits to the unemployed come from the state funds but these checks couldn't be distributed without the administrative machinery.

One spokesman for the state said only about $30,000 now is available for the February payroll.
